

POLICE STATIONS CLOSURE 'UNFAIR'

Report by Andrew Turton

POLICE station closures are 'unfair and unnecessary' according to an MP, after dates when doors will shut for good were confirmed.

Closure dates for 13 police stations in the Black Country have been confirmed as part of £8.6 million cuts — and Netherton in Dudley is first to go.

West Midlands Police is shutting 28 stations in total across its area. The Netherton police base will shut on January 31 alongside others in Wolverhampton and Great Barr.

Dudley station will follow on August 31, with Halesowen police station due to close on January 31, 2017. Kingswinford police station is also expected to close within the next 18 months.

West Midlands Police and Crime Commissioner David Jamieson said the force had to take 'difficult decisions'.

But Dudley South MP Mike Wood, whose constituency covers Netherton and Kingswinford, said the move would have a major impact.

"There is no requirement for the commissioner to pursue his plans to close stations in Kingswinford and Netherton," he said.

Listen

"I have said that closing two stations within my constituency was both unfair and now unnecessary.

"The Government, following representation from MPs like myself, has changed the formula for funding forces such as West Midlands Police and, as a result, its budget will not face any budget reductions.

"Therefore the reasons for closing any of the named stations is no longer viable and the Commissioner should do as the Chancellor has done — listen to representation and change his mind," said the Conservative MP.

Councillor Elaine Taylor, for Netherton, Woodside and St Andrews, Dudley, said: "We have been told the closure of our station is still happening but they are looking at having an office in the locality so the public still have that service and that presence in the area. We are keeping our PCSOs, which we are very happy about."

Commissioner Jamieson said: "Between 2010 and 2015 West Midlands Police was cut harder than any other force in the country which means we still have difficult decisions to make.

"My priority always will be people not building. Many people from across the political divide have realised this. The overriding view of police professionals is that officers, not building, keep people safe."

Dudley North Labour MP Ian Austin and Conservative MP for Halesowen and Rowley Regis James Morris have campaigned against station closures. But Margot James, Tory MP for Stourbridge, has supported the move, previously saying that the closures would have 'minimal impact'.

IT'S HAPPY EVER AFTER FOR BILL, 90, AND FLO, 96

The happy couple, 96-year-old Flo Marshallsay and 90-year-old Bill Griffiths were married at St Hilda's in Warley Woods

DEARLY beloved, we are here to witness the story of Britain's oldest newly weds — inspirational Black Country couple Bill Griffiths, aged 90, and 96-year-old Florence 'Flo' Marshallsay have proved it is never too late to live happily ever after.

The pair, who have known each other for almost 20 years and lived together for the best part of a decade, exchanged their vows at a packed St Hilda's Church in Warley Woods.

Albion fan Bill wore a Baggies tie with his suit while Flo, who was given away by grandson Mark, donned a dress from John Lewis.

The occasion was led by family friend Reverend Paul Hinton. Flo, who ran the Malt Shovel pub in Dudley for nearly 40 years, said: "Reverend Paul was mentioning all these countries and I didn't know what he was on about. Then I worked out they have all been saying we're the oldest people to get married."

"The church was full, it was amazing. It's been absolutely wonderful."

Father-of-three Bill, a former engineer, used to go dancing with his late wife Joan, until she died in 1997. It was though dancing that he first met mother-of-two Flo. After Joan died the couple became inseparable with Joan eventually agreeing to move in to Bill's house in Oldbury. Bill popped the question to Flo last year. "I was gobsmacked when he asked me to marry him," added Joan.

Mr Hinton said: "It is not every day that a vicar anywhere has the privilege of marrying two people whose combined ages would make a very good cricket score. And it is certainly not every day that nearly 200 years of wisdom, experience and love are brought together to make these age-old vows."

Mr Hinton said: "It is not every day that a vicar anywhere has the privilege of marrying two people whose combined ages would make a very good cricket score. And it is certainly not every day that nearly 200 years of wisdom, experience and love are brought together to make these age-old vows."

SECURITY

Pupils evacuated due to bomb hoax

A SCHOOL in Halesowen and three schools in Sandwell were evacuated after they received hoax bomb threats on Tuesday.

Police attended Leasowes High School in Halesowen, Brinnall Hall Academy, Oldbury Academy and Holly Lodge in Oldbury but, following searches, West Midlands Police said that no bombs or suspicious objects had been found.

Dudley Councillor Ian Cooper, cabinet member for children's services, said: "We can reassure parents that the situation was dealt with quickly and safely."

ACCIDENT

Motorist dies after sports car hits tree

A DRIVER died after his sports car crashed into a tree and lamp post near Stourbridge.

Other motorists attempted to save 24-year-old Lee Wassell, of Cleve View Road, Wombourne, following the crash on the A458 Bridgnorth Road, near Stourton, but he was pronounced dead at the scene by paramedics.

Floral tributes have been placed at the scene of the accident, where his Subaru Impreza crashed at 12.50am on Saturday.

EDUCATION

Parents in protest over school threat

AROUND 40 angry parents staged a protest on the steps of Dudley Council House against the proposed closure of The Coseley School.

Parents and children, waving banners, gathered outside the Priory Road building on Monday evening before the council's cabinet meeting, where the school was discussed behind closed doors.

Parents and pupils were shocked by the move, which was announced at a special assembly, to start consultation over the school's future.

More than 1,500 have since signed a petition to save the school.

Council pay out £380k in injury claims

DUDLEY Council has paid out more than £380,000 to people on injury claims since 2013, new figures reveal.

The cash-strapped authority received 609 claims from 2013/14 to the present date, with 121 of those claims successful.

In total, the council has been forced to hand out £387,411 in that period.

The biggest claim was on July 5, 2013, when the authority had to pay £18,120 for a break or fracture caused by a pothole.

The council faces huge financial challenges in the next five years and has just revealed a second tranche of budget savings to contend with.

UKIP Councillor Paul Brothwood said the cash pot paid out was money the council could ill afford to spend and needed to be reduced.

Cabinet member Councillor David Sparks said the council worked hard to ensure the borough was safe and clean but could not prevent 'unavoidable' incidents.

Councillor Brothwood claimed the extent of the injury payouts suggested a lack of investment by the authority. He said: "I think this is a reflection of the poor investment from the council into our roads and pavements. I know money from central Government has been made available but not a lot of it seems to have been spent in the borough."

"I think the level of money paid out is a consequence of not improving the roads and pavements at the same time - instead of doing one then coming back to do the other," Councillor Brothwood added. "It's far more cost effective to do them all at once. I would far rather that £380,000 had been spent on improving Dudley borough's roads."

Finance boss Councillor Sparks said: "We work hard to ensure the borough is a safe and clean place to be but obviously there will be unavoidable occasions where incidents can happen. We have a robust process in place to evaluate claims coming in to the council, and where we are found to be at fault, those cases are dealt with appropriately."

Last chance to sign up for energy auction bid

DUDLEY residents have only got just over a week to register for an energy auction that council bosses say could save them hundreds of pounds on their bills.

More than 5,000 people have already registered with the Big Switch campaign backed by Dudley Council.

The more people who register for the auction, the better the deal offered by energy companies.

The last auction attracted nearly 800 people and 98 per cent of them made savings.

The closing date for the latest auction, in which the public join together to get a better deal, is February 1.

Councillor Pete Lowe, leader of the council, said: "As a community council, we are extremely pleased with this successful initiative which is free and easy to join. Our Big Switch auctions are able to secure energy rates that are not available direct from suppliers or price comparison sites."

"Anyone who signs up is under no obligation to switch suppliers, but with savings of an average of £300 a year, more and more people are seeing the benefits of switching to this collective way of buying energy."

The scheme is open to all householders, including people living in rented accommodation, those with a prepayment meter or people paying for dual fuel or gas and electricity separately, and those with a fuel debt of £500 or less. Visit www.dudley.gov.uk and search for Big Switch or call 0300 555 2345 for details.

Sisters hurt by dog attacks on same day

A TWO-YEAR-OLD girl and her sister were attacked by a dog, suffering injuries within hours of each other, a court heard.

The girls were both bitten by the Akita/Husky crossbreed, one of two dogs owner Susan Russon handed over to police following the incidents.

Russon, aged 32, of The Beck, Netherton, pleaded guilty to being in charge of a dog allowing it to be dangerously out of control and causing injury.

Wolverhampton Crown Court heard that the girls, whose mother is a friend of Russon, had been fussing the dog when it turned nasty.

Defence barrister Stephen Hamblett told the court about the incident on July 2. He said: "Her friend has two young daughters and they were all at her house. One of the dogs attacked her two-year-old, and she had two small cuts. She was taken to hospital at around 2pm."

Judge

"They returned later that day at 6pm. Her other daughter, who was seven at the time, was fussing the dog, as children do. The dog then bit her. She sustained two cuts on her chin. She didn't go to hospital."

Judge James Burbidge was shown pictures of the injuries. The attack happened close to Russon's home.

Mr Hamblett told the court that Russon had handed over both dogs to police.

Judge Burbidge told Russon: "I take into account that you have pleaded guilty at the earliest opportunity."

"You had no reason to believe that the dog would attack in the way that it did in the first instance, although it could be argued you should have done more as a precaution to stop the second attack from happening. I have seen the injuries and they are nasty looking injuries."

"I understand that you are friends with the girls' mother and you have shown remorse. But you must be punished. It hasn't been said whether the older of the two girls will suffer from scarring. But she could suffer psychologically when confronted with a dog in the future. I understand you must be a dog lover, so giving them up must have been very difficult for you."

He sentenced her to 70 hours community service.

King Arthur is put to the sword

Going going... 1930s Dudley pub the King Arthur pictured midway through the demolition process

A LANDMARK at a gateway to Dudley has been demolished to make way for a supermarket.

The 1930s roadhouse King Arthur pub, next to the Birmingham New Road, has been knocked down to clear the site for a new Aldi store.

Residents have long been split over the fate of the locally-listed building, which closed down as a pub in 2012 and had become an eyesore after it became a target for vandals.

The future of the site was sealed by planning bosses last year after heritage groups had declined to come to its rescue.

Councillor Alan Finch, who has overseen the planning process, said: "It is sad to see the King Arthur pub go, but I think it's fantastic for the local community to have a new outlet to go to."

"There is nothing like this (supermarket) around the Castle and Priory area. We are looking at new jobs for the local people."

Supermarket giant Aldi stepped forward with plans to develop the site last year, creating 40 jobs.

Dudley North MP Ian Austin asked residents living near the pub whether they backed the supermarket plans. Out of more than 900 respondents, 80 per cent said yes.

But Sedgley Councillor and UKIP MEP Bill Etheridge raised a petition with 102 signatures calling for the pub to be retained.

The pub was built in 1939 by Dudley architects Webb and Gray.

Lawyers choose MND as charity

BLACK Country law firm George Green has chosen the Motor Neurone Disease Association as the charity it will raise funds for during 2016.

MND is the only national charity in England, Wales and Northern Ireland focused on MND care, research and campaigning. The disease affects up to 5,000 adults in the UK at any one time. It is a fatal progressive disease that affects the brain and spinal cord, attacking the nerves that control movement. The association funds research, as well as funding specialist equipment and support grants for people diagnosed with MND.

The law firm will be participating in various events to raise money for the charity including its own Walk to D'feet, a walk from the firm's office in Cradley Heath to its office in Wolverhampton.

Sainsbury's looking to take over Argos chain

THREE Argos stores in Dudley borough could be closed and jobs lost as Sainsbury's looks to take over the retailer and relocate sites within supermarkets.

The shops on Dudley High Street, the Merry Hill centre and Halesowen's Cornbow centre are all under threat.

Sainsbury's made the revelations after it set out its case for a £1 billion-plus takeover of Home Retail Group, which incorporates both Argos and Homebase. The bid deadline is February 2.

In a presentation outlining its plans, Sainsbury's said it would look to shut a number of the 734 units in the Argos chain and bring them into its supermarkets as concessions.

Sources close to Sainsbury's believe between 150 and 200 Argos shops could be impacted and that places all 16 in the Black Country and Staffordshire under threat.

Dudley councillor Khurshid Ahmed said: "I hope these stores are not under threat because they seem to be doing well. Argos in Merry Hill is big and one of the major stores. Dudley is vibrant and my hope and wish is that it won't be under threat. The same for Halesowen."

Deputy leader, Councillor Judy Foster, added that she welcomed Sainsbury's buying Argos out if it was in trouble but that she hoped they would opt to save the three local shops.

There are already 10 Argos concessions in the supermarket chain in the UK as part of a trial.

Injured passenger no longer critical

A MAN badly hurt when a van hit a tree in Dudley is no longer in a critical condition. Two men — the driver and front seat passenger — had to be cut free from the Ford Escort after the smash in Clee Road, which was closed for several hours following the accident at around 1.30pm on January 6.

Two back seat passengers, women aged 44 and 38, were also injured.

The 37-year-old driver is recovering in hospital, whilst a 35-year-old man was originally in a critical condition but was said to be improving.

Sergeant Paul Hughes said: "It is important that we piece together the events leading up to the collision."

Anyone with information should contact the Collision Investigation Unit on 101.

Brighter future after church revamp

Rev Stuart Scott at St John's, Stourbridge

A £16,000 scheme to repair and upgrade a Victorian church in Stourbridge has been hailed a success.

But fundraising will continue to further improve, protect and modernise the grade II listed St John's United Reformed Church.

The project to repair parts of the church in the town centre at St Johns Road was funded by various grants.

The work saw repairs to internal parts of the roof at the 1860 building, transformed the vestry into a meeting room, upgraded lighting and saw heating and electrics checked.

As well as being a place of worship, the building is used as a venue for events such as art exhibitions, plays, concerts and the town's foodbank.

Landfill

Funding for the work came from The Veolia Environmental Trust, which awarded £8,670 through the Landfill Communities Fund.

Also contributing to the church repairs were Dudley Community Forum, which awarded £5,000, and the Joseph Scott Chapel Charity, which gave £2,000.

The congregation plan to continue fundraising so repairs can be carried out on the external part of the roof and to develop community space.

Reverend Stuart Scott said: "This important work has enhanced our grade II listed building and contributed to its long-term sustainability."

He added: "The new meeting space will be used by a variety of organisations, including the foodbank. We can now look forward to a brighter future."

Credit union scrap cash over the counter service

COUNCIL bosses have promised members of a credit union in Dudley they will still be able to access their money after its over-the-counter cash facility was scrapped.

Critics say the changes at the Castle and Crystal Credit Union in New Street will hit the poorest families in the borough hardest.

The facility, run by Dudley Council, provides saving accounts for members and allows them to borrow cash from others.

Officials have reassured members they will still be able to access their savings despite no longer having the option to physically withdraw cash from the union building.

The changes are due to come into force from April.

Councillor Rachel Harris, cabinet member for health and wellbeing, said: "Castle and Crystal is not closing. This is about a change to our cash withdrawal services."

"Members are still able to access their savings in many other ways and other services will continue to run as normal."

Transfer

"There are a number of other ways in which members can access their money, including online and telephone banking or a BACS transfer to a nominated bank account."

"Alternatively people can purchase a prepaid card which enables them to withdraw cash from an ATM machine, can be used online or to get cash back, free of charge, from supermarkets."

However, Sedgley councillor Bill Etheridge has hit out at the fact members will incur added costs as a result of the change. The prepaid debit card will cost £3.50 with additional costs every time withdrawals are made at cash machines.

Councillor Etheridge said: "Some of these people rely on their last couple of pounds to get them through to their next payday or benefits payment."

"From April, they will not be able to access anything under a tenner. This is just one more inconvenience and cost for the poorest members of our society. People rely on credit unions when they cannot get a current account at a bank."

Car flipped over on icy road

Firefighters with the car that ended up on its roof in Pedmore Road, as icy conditions took a toll

A CAR flipped onto its roof in Stourbridge during icy conditions on Saturday morning.

Firefighters were called out to reports of an accident at around 9.30am, with crews from Stourbridge and Brierley Hill attending the incident at Pedmore Lane.

The hatchback was the only vehicle involved in the accident and none of the occupants were trapped.

In High Street, Dudley, a pregnant woman was witnessed falling. Eye-witnesses described seeing two women fall within quick succession of each other.

Afterwards people phoned Dudley Council asking them to grit the road, which took place shortly before 11am, nearly an hour after the women fell.

Environment boss Councillor Hilary Bills: "We are aware of an incident in the town centre this morning which was caused by freezing temperatures and snow. Clearly the council cannot grit every footpath in the borough but we do try and make public areas as safe as possible but would ask people to be careful."

Major routes through the Black Country were badly affected by crashes throughout the day. There was tailbacks along the Birmingham New Road following a two-car smash near Sedgley Road West, Tipton.

FOUR homes will be built on the site of former garages in Colesey, after plans were given the green light.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

BACK in the days of churchgoing, assemblies, sing-songs in the pub and sea shanties around the school piano, we learned how to hold a tune in our heads. The Brits could sing. This week, in the massive media overkill that marked David Bowie's passing, some TV and radio reporters invited members of the public to sing their favourite Bowie hits. And what a dire, off-key caterwauling ensued. What a tuneless nation we have become.

A SURVEY of grass-roots Labour supporters reveals the party has grown, moved to the Left and thinks its new leader is great. I'm not sure if this tells us anything except that Jeremy Corbyn has a lot of support – among his supporters.

A READER points out that although the immensely entertaining Dickensian (BBC1) is set in the deep mid-winter with snow crunching under foot, no-one has frosted breath.

THANKS for all your items on the subject of chucking out a favourite pair of old shoes. Most were funny tales. And then suddenly this: "In 1971 I bought new black shoes to walk my wife-to-be down the aisle. Forty years later, in 2011, after much wear, repair and polishing, I wore the same shoes to walk her coffin again down the aisle. You can't put a price on all the memories a much-loved pair of shoes can hold."

A READER tells me he phoned his local radio station to be told he was the first caller of the day and thus qualified for the mystery grand prize, if he could answer one simple maths question. By chance, he has a degree in mathematics. The prize was two front-row seats at a Justin Bieber concert. The crucial question – what is two plus two? Without a moment's hesitation he replied: "Potato." I'm not sure I believe a word of it, but I never entirely dismiss the conspiracy theory that the chief purpose of local radio is to rot the nation's brains.

WHY do some doctors have such a downer on booze? One suggestion this week came from health writer Tony Edwards. He says some research suggests moderate drinkers are less likely to suffer from a wide range of diseases. But as he puts it: "The job of doctors is to help sick people rather than healthy ones, so they inevitably see the casualties of alcohol, never its beneficiaries." So most doctors will see alcoholics dying of liver disease while never meeting the moderate drinker who enjoys a glass of wine a day and, inexplicably, never catches a cold.

Councillor backs teen ban to ease fears

A BAN on teenagers at a Stourbridge town centre car park, which has been plagued by vandalism and anti-social behaviour, could finally bring its problems to an end, says a councillor.

A Public Space Protection Order has been introduced at the multi-storey Ryemarket car park, prohibiting under-18s from entering the car park unless driving a vehicle or accompanied by a responsible adult. Councillor Nicholas Barlow said he hoped the move would put a stop to the issues that have given the car park a bad reputation and may lead to it being open at night again.

He believes many motorists have been put off from using it for fear of their vehicles being damaged. In October, council bosses decided to shut the car park at night to combat the problem but it was felt that further measures were needed.

Councillor Barlow said: "They have got to explore every option available under legislation and it has to be brought forward to give them the strength to deal with these groups which have been causing problems on the Ryemarket car park.

"It has to be looked at and implemented to see what feedback we get and what the impact is. We need to use whatever powers possible. We need to reassure the public their cars are going to be as safe as possible.

"The car park is there for people to park their cars safely without the thought of having whatever number of people congregating in a corner. It may be they are just admiring the views of Stourbridge but it's just that fear factor."

Bid to raise taxes is branded 'ridiculous'

By David Cosgrove

DUDLEY Council has been accused of 'sleepwalking off a financial cliff edge' after plans to raise council tax by 3.99 per cent for three successive years were revealed.

The cash-strapped authority unveiled proposals to help slash a black hole in its funding from £50 million to just under £21m.

Opposition councillors have criticised the Labour-run council, saying the budget plans fail to fix underlying problems. But council bosses said the authority was facing difficult decisions due to a reduction in Government funding.

Conservative leader Councillor Patrick Harley said: "We would support one council tax increase this year as we've had five years with no increase. But I think it's ridiculous to propose to do this for three years.

"This council has refused to deal with the reality that local government needs to change. They're sleepwalking off a financial cliff edge."

Last week the council revealed plans to increase its share of council tax by 1.99 per cent and take up a Government offer to increase it by a further two per cent for adult social care, bringing it to 3.99 per cent. This works out to be an extra 77p per week, or £40.04 per year, for people living in Band C properties.

Bus

Council chiefs said residents would continue to pay the lowest council tax rates in the region.

UKIP's Councillor Paul Brothwood said: "It's a lot of money to ask residents to pay, and the big problem is it hits people on the lowest incomes the most. There have been years of mismanagement which have led us to this point."

Now the leader of Dudley Council is to ask taxpayers for their views by getting on the bus. Councillor Pete Lowe will be travelling around the borough on public transport on Wednesday, January 27, speaking to passengers about services.

Clean up begins on waste mountain

DUDLEY COPYRIGHT EXPRESS&STAR TIM THURSFIELD 14/01/16

AFTER years living in the shadow of an ugly mound of rubbish, it at last looks like the nightmare is ending for Brierley Hill residents.

Work has started to prepare for the removal of the huge piles of waste from a compound in Moor Street which was occupied by Refuse Derived Fuel (RDF).

The rubbish mountain at one time grew to a lofty 40 feet, making it clearly visible as it towered over nearby homes. That resulted in High Court action and company director Robert McNaughton served a jail term for failing to remove it.

Last week contractors moved on site to begin the initial work on a task that will take several months and will cost the landowner an estimated £750,000.

Resident Linda Jones said: "It has been an eyesore for what seems like forever. It will be good to see it gone."

Fellow resident Geoff Clarke said: "It has been a long-time coming, almost six years. But to now finally see that something will be done about this is great news. Dudley Council has already given approval for houses to be built on the site as well, so it will be a distinct improvement once the rubbish is out the way.

"Greenery has been growing out of the mound that made it look like a mountain. I know that everyone will be pleased that the clearance is finally taking place."

Dean Rutter, from contractors Ammanford Limited South Wales, said: "The work to clear the site will be getting underway this week."

Free return tickets for visitors to winter zoo

VISITORS to Dudley Zoo in January and February will receive a free return trip.

Bosses say it will enable people to see the attraction at different times of the year.

Curator Richard Brown said: "The zoo changes so much during each season that we wanted to encourage visitors to come and see it for themselves.

"During the winter months it's much quieter on site, the trees are bare and those animals who are native to colder climates are more active – whereas during the height of summer the zoo is bustling, the gardens are blooming and different animals are enjoying the warmer weather."

The return ticket will be valid for six months from the visit date and an original receipt from the January or February visit will be needed.

Meanwhile, the zoo has revealed that more than 2,200 people filed into the Castle Hill attraction in the week between Christmas and New Year, which is almost 800 more than the same week in the previous year.

Attendance was at its highest on Monday, December 28, which was a bank holiday, and Tuesday, December 29 when more than 1,000 crammed into the zoo, which celebrates 80 years next year.

Zoo director Derek Grove said: "We've seen a year-on-year increase of December school holiday visitors and we're delighted with these latest figures and glad so many people enjoyed the chance to explore the zoo."

Museum recruiting £50k-a-year chiefs

THE Black Country Living Museum is recruiting two new deputy chief executives as a major revamp of the attraction gets under way.

It comes after recent figures showed that visitor numbers were up eight per cent at the Tipton Road attraction in the last 12 month, raking in an extra £500,000 towards new development.

The two new deputy chief executive roles will focus on visitor engagement, operations and collections, learning and research, with salaries starting at £50,000 a year.

Bosses say that the new vacancies have been given new titles for what were previously directors.

Vicki Stanley, who is deputy chief executive of development, explained: "It will give much clearer leadership and management of the museum."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people

I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

More than one in three 11-year-olds overweight

MORE than a third of children leaving primary school in the West Midlands are obese or overweight, according to latest statistics.

Figures from the National Child Measurement Programme show around 36 per cent – around 23,500 – of Year 6 children in the region are obese or overweight, which is above the national average of 33.2 per cent.

In Wolverhampton, 26.3 per cent of Year 6 children were classed as obese. Sandwell, Walsall and Dudley were slightly lower with 24.5, 24.4 and 24.3 per cent respectively.

The British Heart Foundation has now called for a ban on all junk food TV advertisements before 9pm, as part of the Government's Childhood Obesity Strategy to help improve children's health.

Current regulation means foods high in fat, saturated fat, salt and sugar are banned from being advertised during children's programming.

However, with Ofcom figures showing 65 per cent of children watch TV between 7pm and 8pm, children are being exposed to adverts which promote unhealthy snacks, the heart charity claims.

Mike Hobbay, of the British Heart Foundation, said: "It's worrying that so many children in the West Midlands are obese or overweight. Carrying excess weight into adulthood increases the risk of developing heart disease in later life. We need to protect young people against the sophisticated marketing techniques of junk food advertisers."

Violent incidents on region's buses

ASSAULTS, harassment and threats – more than 2,000 acts of violence took place on buses in the West Midlands over the past five years.

The figures, obtained through a freedom of information request to West Midlands Police, show that the number of violent crimes on buses has been decreasing.

There were 480 in 2010 but this had decreased to 383 in 2011. It went up slightly to 385 in 2012 before dropping to 363 in 2013, 357 in 2014, down to the last recorded figure of 319 last year.

Superintendent Kerry Blakeman said: "We have an excellent partnership with Centro, British Transport Police and we have dedicated Safer Travel Police Team."

Chance to have a say at forum

THERE will be a meeting of the community forum for Dudley Council's Kingswinford North and South, Wall Heath and Wordsley wards at Kingswinford Royal British Legion, Summerhill, on February 2, 6.30pm.

Lucky couple win their wedding day

Going to the chapel — Natalie and Chris

A COUPLE have been crowned winners of a Black Country win a wedding competition after receiving more than 25,000 votes from the public.

Natalie Davies, aged 30, of Pensnett, and Chris Williams, 27 of Wednesbury, beat three other finalists to win the white wedding package worth £6,000.

They will now start planning to get married in the historic and newly-renovated grade-II listed Lye and Wollescote Chapels, near Stourbridge, which have been renamed the Thomas Robinson Building.

The chapels have undergone a £1.2m restoration and will become the registration office for civil ceremonies.

Customer service advisor Natalie and warehouse worker Chris couldn't believe their luck after Mayor of Dudley Councillor Steve Waltho announced their names at the chapel on Thursday.

Natalie said: "I can't believe it, it's absolutely amazing. I can't believe people of Dudley have voted for us, we are so grateful we can't really put it into words, I cannot thank everyone enough for voting for us. I've took a lot of inspiration from my grandmother and grandad, who were married 55 years.

"Unfortunately grandad died last year, but for us to win this it's almost like he was looking down on us."

On April 2 they will be driven in a 1933 Rolls Royce to the wedding as part of the package, which also includes a wedding breakfast for 40 guests at The Copthorne Hotel, Brierley Hill, a makeover for the bride and a wedding gown worth £1,000.

Rogue traders guilty of harassing elderly

BOSSSES at a roofing firm have been found guilty of harassing customers with their sales tactics.

After a four-month trial, Summit Roofguard Ltd director Sarah Beadle was found guilty of 28 various counts of unfair, misleading or aggressive commercial practices.

The jury at Wolverhampton Crown Court also decided the firm's co-director Martin Evans was guilty of 24 charges.

Summit Roofguard, which had an office in Birmingham, claimed to be the largest installer of fascias, soffits and guttering in the region.

The prosecution was brought by Dudley Council's trading standards after customers across the Black Country were targeted.

General manager Trefor Prytherch was found guilty of two counts, while employees Derrick Fisher and Glenys Bolton were each guilty of four.

They will all be sentenced in March.

The offences occurred between 2011 and 2014, and the court was told the firm had since ceased trading. The annual turnover of the combined company stood at almost £4 million in 2011.

Aggressive

One of the victims was pensioner Betty Tipper, of Brierley Hill, who was sold windows and guttering by Summit Roofguard to replace products installed just four years earlier. Beadle and Evans were found guilty of engaging in an aggressive commercial practice in regard to Mrs Tipper, who was plagued by phone calls from the firm despite her son John imploring Summit to stop contacting her.

Another pensioner targeted was 88-year-old Jack Hill, from Brierley Hill in a bid to persuade him to replace his garage roof unnecessarily. Beadle, Evans and Prytherch were all found guilty of engaging in an aggressive commercial practice regarding Mr Hill.

Evans, 58, from Lower Broadheath, Worcestershire; Beadle, 39, of Yew Tree Road, Moseley; Prytherch, 57, of Crawley, Sussex; Fisher, 64, from Wootton Waven, Warwickshire, and Bolton of New Oscott, Birmingham, 64, denied the charges. Beadle was found not guilty of two counts, Evans of six and Prytherch of six.

Evans, Beadle, Prytherch, Fisher and Bolton will be sentenced at Wolverhampton Crown Court on March 10.

Not guilty verdicts were found in all counts faced by Richard Ledwith, 38, of West Heath, and Nadeem Yasin, 34, from Hodge Hill.

Fan Steve kitted out for his book

Pictured at Molineux, fan and collector Steve Plant is writing a book about the history of the iconic Wolves shirt

A DIE-HARD Wolves fan from Stourbridge has set about documenting the history of the club's iconic shirts from 1877 to the present day.

Steve Plant, aged 54, started collecting Wolves shirts to show his father John after the latter was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer and given just months to live by doctors.

Seven years later he owns more than 300 shirts including those worn by club legends such as Steve Bull, Andy Thompson and Andy Mutch.

The collection is so large in fact he needed to have the loft of his Wordsley home reinforced after cracks appeared because of their accumulated weight.

He has now set about photographing a total of 106 shirts, including some from the club's museum, to feature in his book They Wore The Shirt, to be published later this year in a limited edition of 2,000 copies.

Steve, 54, said: "The Old Gold and Black is an iconic sports shirt. Everyone knows it around the entire world."

Steve can boast the shirt worn by Roy Swinbourne in the famous victory over Honved in 1954. His favourite was the first shirt he bought to show his late father, belonging to fans' favourite George Elokobi back in 2009.

Why less is more for the film goers

QUENTIN Tarantino's new movie, The Hateful Eight, seems to be the film of choice for those in the know at the moment. The western, set in the aftermath of the American Civil War, lasts a burn-numbing three hours seven minutes.

It follows hot on the heels of Spectre, the longest Bond movie ever, at two hours 40 minutes. And of course, a few years ago there was War Horse, another acclaimed movie that was also the best part of three hours.

Whatever happened to the 90-minute film? It wouldn't be so bad, but you now have to sit through half an hour of trailers, non-smoking warnings, and threats of what will happen if you film the movie on your phone, before you even begin. As if you could record a three-hour movie on your mobile.

Besides, too many films these days seem to be filled with padding just to make them last longer.

Take Captain Phillips, for example, the film about the captain of a ship hi-jacked by pirates. The first 15 minutes was about his drive to work and fears for his son's future. Or the Kingsman, where half an hour was spent messing about with a light aircraft. Just get on with it.

Look, I'm not pining for the days of a B-movie to act as the warm-up, an interval in the middle to change spools, and a spot of Pathe news to keep us abreast of what is going on in the world. But I do think that an hour-and-a-half is long enough for any story, and if a film runs for as long as an ice-hockey match, then it should be edited more tightly.

I TRUST that you are now sleeping more soundly at night, after our lawmakers spent two hours debating why they did not want to ban Donald Trump from entering the UK.

The debate, if you can call it that, given that nobody apart from Alex Salmond was in favour of a Trump ban, was triggered because 500,000 of the professional malcontents who spend most of their lives moaning on Twitter and Facebook had signed a petition. Do these people never take a day off?

There is the small matter of the fact that the talking Shredded Wheat has never indicated any plans to visit the UK – he would probably struggle to find it on a map – but, hey, let's not that get in the way of a spot of student-union grandstanding. But next time, maybe the Twitterati might turn their attention to something that actually affects us?

ACCORDING to the latest healthy eating guidelines from the Department of Health, we are now expected to restrict ourselves to 30g of sugar a day, the equivalent of nine sugar lumps.

Except Chris Huhne, of course. He's letting the missus have his points.

Starman memories left by icon Bowie

David Bowie influenced more than one generation via his music, fashion, art and ideas
PETER MADELEY reports

IF it hadn't been for David Bowie, most of the rock stars, broadcasters and writers who made it out of the West Midlands would never have got started.

There would have been no Birmingham-based Duran Duran and no Black Country combo Pop Will Eat Itself.

Alternative music and new wave would have had as much chance of making it into the mainstream as avant garde jazz. The star who implored 'Let's Dance' was the starting point for three generations of artists.

His untimely death at the age of 69 robs us of one of music's greatest icons, a true innovator who ranks alongside The Beatles and Elvis as being one of the most influential artists of all time.

Influence

Pop Will Eat Itself founder Clint Mansell, for instance, is presently one of Hollywood's most influential soundtrack writers.

But without Bowie, he'd never have started. He counts Bowie as the main influence on his musical career.

Clint, from Stourbridge, believes there have been 12 key moments in his life.

The first was his birth in 1963. The next significant episode was in 1972 when he saw David Bowie perform 'Starman' on Top of the Pops. The experience changed his life.

Clint's third key moment came that year when he bought his first album 'The Rise & Fall of Ziggy Stardust'. After that, he was only ever going to be a rock'n'roll star.

Jonn Penney, whose band Ned's Atomic Dustbin, followed Pop Will Eat Itself and The Wonder Stuff into the charts and onto the stages of the nation's biggest festivals, has a similar debt of gratitude to Bowie.

Jonn, from Wolverhampton, said: "To be honest, I kinda feel unqualified to comment on Bowie," he said. "He's so iconic. He's such a genius. What can I say about him? I guess the thing about Bowie is what he stood for; whether that was intended or not. He was utterly unique."

Ziggy played guitar — Bowie in a reflective moment backstage at Birmingham Town Hall

"He made it okay for people to plough their own furrow, rather than follow the herd. He sort of ratified that, he justified it too. But beyond that, he showed everyone that the best music they can make is the most honest music."

Slade drummer Don Powell, who grew up in Bilston, said he was fortunate enough to meet

The Thin White Duke at a gig at Wolverhampton's Civic Hall in the early 1970s.

"I managed to get backstage and explained to him that the first record I ever bought was Space Oddity (Bowie's album from 1969).

"I was shocked because for someone so famous he was very unassuming and quiet, almost to the point of being shy. It is all very sad. We've only just lost Lemmy and now Bowie. Two of the greats gone in the blink of an eye."

West Midlands music producer Pete Watterman said: "Bowie was as important to pop music as The Beatles. He was extraordinarily talented. The Let's Dance album to me is one of the greatest pop albums of all time, every bit as good as Sgt Pepper."

Mr Watterman, a veteran of 26 Bowie live concerts, added: "He was a showman who was able to wrap a simple pop song up into something completely different."

"He was just amazing. I only met him twice and found him incredibly quiet."

Wolverhampton author Caitlin Moran broke down in tears during a Bowie track on BBC Radio Two's Jeremy Vine show.

She said: "This is such a sad day. It feels like someone's taken the core out of the Earth."

"As a child of my generation he seemed to be everywhere."

Bowie played numerous iconic gigs around the Black Country, Birmingham and Staffordshire, including three nights at Stafford's Bingley Hall in June 1978.

Some recall him appearing at venues in Birmingham and Wolverhampton in the 1960s before he found fame, and support slots for Marc Bolan's band T Rex and Humble Pie, the group fronted by former Small Faces singer Steve Marriott.

He graced the stage at Wolverhampton's Civic Hall, firstly in 1973 on the Ziggy Stardust tour and later with his hard rock band Tin Machine in 1991.

He also performed at Birmingham Town Hall in 1970s and at the NEC during the 1980s and 90s.

Reality

In 1997 he was a surprise addition to the bill at the Phoenix Festival held at Long Marston Airfield near Stratford-upon-Avon and played a low-key gig at Birmingham city centre's Que Club.

He appeared finally in the Midlands as part of his A Reality Tour in 2003. That tour was cut short when Bowie had a heart attack, which began his withdrawal from concert performances. The singer's death was announced last Monday, just two days after the release of his 25th album Blackstar, when it was revealed that he had been battling cancer for 18 months.

Keep those wandering moggies on a tether

HAVING read the recent reports of cats being poisoned or going missing, things may not be as bad as they seem.

About nine years ago, we had to have our cat put to sleep following a stroke. Because of our ages and general health, we decided on no more animals, as they would probably outlive us. However, this was not to be.

Soon after, a kitten roughly four months old, turned up on the front step. In spite of attempts to find the owner, nobody claimed her, so we had acquired another cat.

As we have always lived on main roads, our cats have been on collar or harness with a longish length of rope such that they could be tethered and not wander.

About seven years ago, our neighbours moved but said that they could not take the cats, so we purchased a dog kennel for them to live in. Gradually they moved indoors. Nil to 3 cats, without trying. About 18 months ago, a black and white male cat arrived and took up residence in the kennel, until he too, moved indoors. Cats now 4.

Quite recently, a ginger and white male cat has turned up and decided that this is home. We are also visited by two blue cats and a black one with a red collar. We have no idea to whom they belong, but they seem to think that we run a cats café.

We would love to know to whom they belong, or have they just been left when their owners moved. Much as we love animals the cost of feeding them is now more than feeding ourselves. Why do more people not tether their cats? This would negate the fear of them being poisoned or catnapped.

Rotary Club thanks for charity help

ON behalf of the Rotary Club of Sedgley & Wombourne, we would like to thank everyone in the Sedgley and Wombourne areas who contributed so generously to our annual house-to-house collections during December. Also the patrons of Sainsbury's Wombourne, Ashwood Garden Centre and the Co-op in Sedgley.

We are delighted to be able to report that we raised a magnificent total of just over £5,000. This wonderful achievement enables us to continue our important work of supporting many local charities and donating £500 to the floods appeal.

The total amount collected by area shows that £816.82 was donated in our house-to-house collections in Sedgley, £1,093.64 in house-to-house collections in Wombourne with a further £3290.89 at static collections at Ashwood, Sedgley Co-op and Sainsbury's of Wombourne.

Moaning dog owners can like it or lump it

CAN someone explain to me why there has been so much coverage on this 'dog ban' at Himley Hall?

If dog owners don't like it they will just have to lump it - haven't they got better things to worry about?

I know that I have.

I laughed my socks off at a sorrowful photo of dog owners who will have to find other parts of the park to walk their dog, oh dear me what a shame. After all there are only about 200 acres or so, that's going to cause them a big problem isn't it!

Anyway, isn't 'dog ban' a huge exaggeration? When it really is just an area that is going to be 'dog free', and good news for a lot of the public I'm sure.

They even had the arrogance to think they should have been consulted! Who do they think they are?

Have the non-dog owners and those with children ever been asked if they are happy about this?

Can I make a suggestion? If you are so bothered about your little darlings getting their exercise and being let off their leads - why don't you try your own back gardens then?

Floods — shame of the drains

FURTHER to the letter from P Cole (Chronicle Letters, January 7), It's simple — clear drains, I can only agree with his comments.

When you think of all the blood, sweat and tears that went into constructing these drains by hand without any mechanical equipment, just picks and shovels in Victorian times.

P Cole is correct in that not many years ago the drains were cleaned out every other week.

Now Bridgnorth Road in Wollaston is like a raging river after the lightest rain fall and all of the water collects at the bottom of the hill within the shopping area.

Dudley Council should be ashamed of themselves for letting this situation continue.

Come on Dudley Metropolitan Borough Council — get your finger out and do something about this.

Sweeping through the silence

Amblecote History Society

CHAIRMAN Pat Martin welcomed members to the final meeting of 2015 at the Ruskin Centre and the 12th Christmas party.

Pat then started off the 20 question quiz. Whilst teams conferred and wrote down their answers there was a general hush of concentration in the room until the loud exclamation of a shabby looking stranger broke the silence ... "where's my son, have you seen my son?" resounded around the room.

On closer inspection, the man could be identified as Stan Hawthorne the Amblecote chimney sweep who had been engaged to provide some light entertainment.

Stan had been sweeping chimneys for 42 years and he went on to tell amusing anecdotal tales of his experience, including how he had found quite a few things from dead ducks to trapped pigeons and more seasonally a letter to Santa from a young boy, Jonathon, who wanted a new bike and a book for Christmas - the well preserved letter was passed around the audience.

Pat thanked Stan, presenting an Amblecote History Society certificate as a formal record of his presentation.

She then made a presentation to Joyce Robins who was retiring from her position of treasurer, the Society bestowing upon her Lifetime Honorary Membership.

The prize for the winning photograph in the recently announced competition was in her absence awarded to Joan Kendrick.

Lodge confirmed as permanent home

Speaker Clive Garner, treasurer Sandra Chappell and Chairman, Mary Jones

THE first new year luncheon, on Friday January 8, was chaired by Mary Jones who wished 31 members a happy and healthy 2016, welcoming back long-standing member Pat Chance after a long absence.

The chairman was also pleased to confirm that The Lodge, Wellington Road, Dudley would now be the club's permanent home and thanked the directors and general manager for making them so welcome.

The three-course meal and service was excellent and so was speaker Clive Garner who demonstrated the art of silk painting.

He explained the preparation and processes needed before painting, how to apply it and even how to cover up any mistakes.

Dudley South Ladies Luncheon Club

He had brought along a selection of items already completed if members wished to purchase them.

Ann Rogers was looking into the possibility of a visit to Himley Hall for a tour and afternoon tea and asked for help in finding parking for future coach outings.

The AGM is on Friday, February 12 and by speaker, by popular request will be John Sperry, on local characters.

In March the speaker will be local historian Chris Smith.

Hammer terror as shop raid is caught on camera

THIS is the moment masked men burst into a petrol station shop, putting two women shop assistants in fear for their lives.

One of the raiders, 26-year-old Ashley Fay, from Dudley, leapt on the counter armed with a claw hammer and shouted repeatedly for the location of a safe.

One of the women suffered a broken arm when she was pushed to the floor by Fay when she tried to escape.

Shrewsbury Crown Court was told that the other woman thought the men were going to kill her.

Fay and one of his accomplices, 36-year-old Stephen Dale, from Tipton, are now in jail after admitting their roles in the robbery at the Wheatland petrol station in Much Wenlock, near Telford.

Dale, who was not in possession of a hammer, also jumped over the counter during the raid at 9.40pm on September 27, 2014.

Another man, who has not been identified, was also seen brandishing a hammer.

Ran

The men took £466.03 in cash and £293.67 worth of cigarettes.

Mr Charles Crinion, prosecuting, said while they were taking the items the two assistants attempted to run away but Fay ran after them. He pushed one of them to the floor. The victim suffered a broken arm requiring surgery which has left her without the full range of movement.

The court was told that the pair had been identified when police found Dale's finger prints on a roll of black bags in a stolen VW Golf used in the robbery. Police also found a glove with DNA matching Fay in the car.

Sentencing the pair last week, Recorder Nigel Daly said it has obviously been a frightening experience for the two ladies.

Fay, of Hillside Road, Pensnett, was jailed for 59 months. Dale, of Bernard Road, was jailed for 44 months.

Fay was said to have a number of previous convictions for car theft and Mr Graham Arnold, for Fay and Dale, said that both men were now looking to turn their lives around. He described Fay as remorseful and Dale as someone who wants to start his life again.

Zeppelin memorial to be unveiled in Tipton

A PLAQUE commemorating the 1916 Zeppelin bombing raid on Tipton is to be unveiled later this month.

Tipton Civic Society is planning a ceremony at the premises of H C Pullinger in Union Street on Sunday, January 31 – the actual 100th anniversary – at 3pm.

The society is hoping that people related to the 14 local people who died in the raid will attend.

A talk by local historian Derek Nicholls on the raid is also being given on January 26 at Tipton Conservative Club, Union Street, at 7.30pm.

Tipton Library will also be hosting a Zeppelin Day on Saturday, January 30, with a talk from Mr Nicholls at 11am. Numbers are limited and people wishing to attend should call the library on 0121 557 1796 to reserve seats.

The Black Country was targeted by mistake as the German airship pilot mistook Wednesbury for Merseyside with 33 people killed in total. Bombs first hit Union Street in Tipton at around 8pm, with around five falling in the area.

Demolished

One also fell outside Tipton railway station and more around Barnfield Road trading estate. In Union Street, two houses were demolished and others damaged and the gas main was set alight.

Wednesbury Road Congregational Church in Walsall was also badly damaged. There would have been no black-out procedures in place as the concept of strategic air raids were practically unheard of at that time.

While the advances in aviation had brought many benefits, they also meant that towns and cities in the centre of Britain were vulnerable to attack in a way they had never been before. The L19 Zeppelin was later found in the North Sea, having crashed off the coast at Grimsby. It had started dropping its own bombs after L21 and although no-one was killed, significant damage was caused.

A scene of carnage from the raids in the Black Country in 1916

Over the years, witnesses have told of their memories of that terrifying night of the Black Country raids. Edna Smith, who was a four-year-old living in Walsall at the time of the carnage, said: "It was very noisy, like a grinding noise."

"I was by the side of my mother, the people in the distance were just looking up, they weren't chatting about it, they didn't even seem to be worried. I didn't think much about it at the time, but we learned the next day that it had bombed a church."

"We went along to the church, and on the table were quite a few books that were for sale, including a Bible, and my mother bought it for me."

At the time, the Express & Star reported that 26 people had been killed instantly during the night, but Mr Nicholls says the death toll was significantly higher.

An inquest was held jointly for 13 of the victims of the Tipton bombing on February 3.

The 14th, Louisa York, who worked as nurse, had been taken for treatment at Dudley Guest Hospital and her inquest was separate.

The ruling from the inquest on the death certificates stated the following: Wilful murder against the Kaiser of Germany and his son, the Crown Prince, as being accessory to and after the fact' at the insistence of the inquest jury.

Zoo chimps are not tired of monkeying around yet

IT'S fair to say the chimps at Dudley Zoo won't be getting 'tired' of their latest presents any time soon.

The playful primates have been given the old tyres off the attraction's land train to play with.

Dudley Zoo's popular locomotive, called Dotto, has been so popular with visitors over the busy festive period that it has needed a new set of tyres for 2016.

Rather than simply throwing the old tyres away, staff decided to send them to the chimp house where they knew they would be an instant hit.

The new tyres for the train have been fitted by Dudley Zoo's site service manager, Malcolm Clements.

He said: "The tyres we use on the train are stronger than your average car tyre, as it's quite a difficult path that it has to cope with, which is steep and bendy — not your average course for a (land) train of this type.

"The tyres are bigger than average too, similar to tractor tyres, and can't be bought off the shelf, so we have to order them in locally."

He added: "We change them regularly so are always testing different compounds to find which type works best, but we've always got two sets on site at all times, just because they're not readily available."

The tyres will make ideal sturdy toys for the chimps, or could even provide a comfortable place for the chimps to snooze.

The zoo currently has seven chimpanzees on site and they are called Mandy, Fanny, Barbie, Malaika, Binti, Mali and Banika.

For more information on the Castle Hill zoo and its attractions, visit www.dudleyzoo.org.uk website.

Tyred out — one of Dudley Zoo's chimpanzees has a rest on an old tyre from the attraction's land train

£980k is spent on stubbing out habit

MORE than £980,000 has been spent in one year helping nearly two thousand smokers across Dudley kick the habit, figures show

Up to £520 was spent on each smoker aiming to quit in Dudley during the 12-month period.

In Dudley there were 1,887 successful quitters and the total spend was £980,345.

Health boss Councillor Rachel Harris said: "Smoking causes more preventable deaths than anything else and treating smoking related diseases is estimated to cost the NHS in Dudley £12.2m and the NHS nationally £2 billion each year.

"The Dudley Stop Smoking Service offers cost-effective, high-quality, evidence-based stop smoking interventions. These are delivered by specialist advisors who provide expert advice, support and encouragement to help local people stop smoking for good."

She added: "I'm proud of the success achieved by this service in Dudley. Supporting people to quit for good not only rapidly benefits their own health but also that of those around them."

Sex crime victims face a wait for counselling

VICTIMS of sexual violence are having to wait up to nine months to speak to a counsellor about their ordeal.

The number of victims referred to support services in the West Midlands has doubled to more than 5,000 a year since 2010.

The wait has been exposed by West Midlands Police and Crime Commissioner David Jamieson who has vowed to slash waiting times in half.

Alethea Fuller, who oversees victim support at the Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner, said support services were struggling to cope with demand.

She said: "West Midlands data indicates that as a result of the increase in demand, specialist agencies are experiencing pressure on existing services as volume increases by up to a quarter in the last year.

Risk

"As victims come forward, good-quality, safe services are needed to act quickly and appropriately if they are not to be put at greater risk.

"The Independent Sexual Violence Advisor service offers support that is required, they can refer victims for counselling, assess needs and decide what type of support is required.

"The increasing demand on specialist sexual violence services has resulted in significantly longer waiting lists for counselling, currently between six to nine months for all specialist agencies across the region."

Mr Jamieson's office took over responsibility for victim support last April.

By Rob Gollidge

He has launched a Victims Commission to bring together experts to advise how to deliver services.

He said: "This year alone, I have allocated grants of more than £2 million to support thousands of victims across the West Midlands.

"One of the main priorities is supporting the victims of hidden crimes, such as domestic violence, child sexual exploitation, human trafficking, female genital mutilation and forced marriage."

"In these cases, we are often looking at the most vulnerable and isolated members of society and it is paramount that we bring these crimes out into the open. As a result of the work of the Victims Commission, I have been able to fund £320,000 to help tackle sexual violence here in the West Midlands this past year; £50,000 to fight Female Genital Mutilation and £110,000 to support the victims of so-called honour-based violence."

He was developing a Vulnerable Citizens Portal to identify those at risk.

Candle oil garage destroyed by fire

A GARAGE storing scented candle oils in Halesowen was destroyed when a fire broke out.

Fire crews from Oldbury and Haden Hill were called to the property in Hurst Green.

Six firefighters fought the flames for an hour and eventually put it out at 9.30pm on January 12.

Oldbury Fire Station tweeted that its fire crew had literally come out 'smelling of roses' after returning from the incident

Matthew Smith, spokesman for West Midlands Fire Service, said: "The garage, which was about six metres by eight metres, was completely destroyed by a fire.

"Six firefighters with breathing apparatus used two reel hoses and one main hose.

"The fire started when a naked flame spread to barrels containing candle oil, which was being stored in the garage."

More than 4,000 on bike courses

MORE than 4,000 people have taken bicycle training and maintenance courses since they were launched two years ago.

Organisers are now urging more people to get involved as part of a campaign to reduce congestion on the roads. It is part of a programme, run by Centro, part of the West Midlands Integrated Transport Authority.

The programme has already promoted cycling in the Black Country through the 'Bostin Bikes' scheme. This gave people the chance to try out new bikes with the option of buying them at a discount after training.

Councillor Judith Rowley, lead for fair and safe transport on the West Midlands Transport Delivery Committee, said: "We've had a great response with cycling in this area. As well as the health benefits for people, there are real rewards in cutting traffic congestion and carbon emissions."

Find out more at www.mynetwork.org.uk/blackcountry and there will be flyers delivered to homes during February.

Terror for family as car 'petrol bombed'

Worried Rik Freeman, of Dudley, is moving his family out

TRUCK driver Rik Freeman is moving out of his home in Willow Road, Dudley, after his car was petrol bombed.

He said he had been targeted by jobs two years ago, who had slashed his and wife Tracey's tyres on several occasions. The incidents stopped after he installed CCTV cameras a year ago, until the the early hours of Saturday morning when his daughter Demi-Leigh was woken up by a flash. A hooded arsonist was seen on camera running away after the hatchback was set ablaze shortly before 3.30am.

Mr Freeman, 50, who described himself as a 'hard grafter' who gets on with everyone, said he had no idea why they were being targeted.

Anyone with information should call police on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Man took his own life after losing job

A MAN who was found dead in undergrowth at a park committed suicide after being made redundant from his job, an inquest heard. Russell Baker had been looking for work for around a month since losing his job as a machine operator last month.

Mr Baker, who was in his 50s, and lived in Spring Avenue, Rowley Regis, told his wife Paula that he was planning to hand deliver his CV to businesses when he left the house on January 5 this year. He was reported missing by his wife later that day with police officers conducting an extensive overnight search.

His body was found at Warren Hall Park a day later, on January 6, after police tracked the location of his mobile phone. A post-mortem carried out by pathologist Dr Suhail Muzaffar concluded that Mr Baker died from asphyxiation due to suicidal strangulation.

In an inquest at Smethwick Council House, senior coroner for the Black Country, Zafar Siddique, concluded that Mr Baker took his own life and gave a verdict of suicide. He said: "I would like to pass my heartfelt condolences onto the family and friends of Mr Russell Baker at this difficult time."

It's a relief that trouble pub is shut, say nearby residents

THE decision to close a pub in Dudley which has been plagued by violence has been welcomed.

Nearby business owners and residents have spoken after the The Earl of Dudley Arms, in Wellington Road, was shut down by police until the end of March.

The pub was closed by senior officers after police were called to the premises more than 60 times over the last two years, with the premises being described as a hotbed for serious crime involving gangs.

Incidents including wounding and robbery were listed among crimes reported at the pub and in December a man was badly beaten, olice said the owners had failed to protect customers by 'allowing members local gangs to frequent the premises'.

Dudley's Councillor Khurshid Ahmed said: "Public safety is of paramount importance and reading reports of what's been going on at the pub, it's fair to say I feel pleased it has been closed if such incidents are true.

"It is quite shocking people have been put at such risk and as a ward councillor, my main concern is the protection of their health and safety."

"We now have a three-month period to work together to resolve this issue, but nothing should jeopardise the safety of the public."

A nearby business owner, who did not wish to be named, said: "It's been a big problem for everyone in this area and I feel the safety of local people has been put at risk. It's a relief that this notice has been served."

A resident of 20 years, who also did not want to be named, said she 'avoided the pub at all costs'.

The pub was shut down at the end of December and will remain closed until the end of March after a closure notice was granted at Wolverhampton Magistrates Court.

MP's backing for governors

DUDLEY North MP Ian Austin has joined a group promoting the role of school governors in turning schools around.

The All-Party Parliamentary Group for Education Governance and Leadership aims to get more people involved in schools. Mr Austin wants education to be made the number one priority in the Black Country.

He said: "Getting people involved in their local schools as school governors is an important way of making schools accountable to local people and driving up standards."

"Local schools like Ellowes Hall, Dormston and Priory Primary are brilliant examples of how well schools can perform if governors, parents and the whole community get behind heads and teachers working hard to make improvements."

Taylor-made to be a success

WORLD Cup Final referee Jack Taylor has become the latest Wolverhampton legend to be immortalised with his own biography.

The late Mr Taylor took charge of the 1974 final between West Germany and Holland and is among 222 people making their debut in the Oxford Dictionary of National Biography (ODNB).

He joins fellow famous Wulfrunians including Wolves and England defender Billy Wright, Wolves' most successful manager Stan Cullis and late Wolverhampton MP Enoch Powell in the list.

"It is a wonderful tribute," his widow Sue said. "I'm delighted that he is still remembered. He would be so honoured. Jack was a very modest man. "He had such phenomenal success yet it never went to his head. He thoroughly enjoyed what he did, and he knew he did it well."

Mr Taylor's entry in the ODNB opens by saying that he left school at 14 after failing his 11 plus.

"Living above his father's butcher's shop, it was probably assumed that he would go into the business, although as a young man he was keen on horses with thoughts of becoming a trader," the biography continues.

football at the weekends that became a central life interest."

The progress of Mr Taylor was 'extraordinary' according to the ODNB. He was only 31 years of age when he refereed the FA Amateur Cup final between Crook Town and Hounslow Town in 1962.

In 1966, he refereed the FA Cup final between Everton and Sheffield Wednesday at Wembley, and then took charge of the 1971 European Cup final, between Ajax and Panathinaikos.

Three years later he was the man in the middle for the World Cup Final, awarding two penalties.

He received the OBE for services to football in 1975. Not bad for the lad from Staveley Road.

Once when Mr Taylor refereed a match at Luton Town, his face was cut when a fan threw a penny at him.

Legend has it that after the match, comedian and Luton fan Eric Morecambe went to see him to make sure that he was alright, and also to check that he wasn't going to report Luton for the incident.

When Mr Taylor confirmed that he wouldn't be reporting the matter, Morecambe replied: "Good, now can I have my penny back?"

Mr Taylor later became commercial director at Wolves and was also a Wolverhampton magistrate for 25 years. He was inducted into the FIFA Hall of Fame in 1999 and in 2013 became the first referee inducted into the English Football Hall of Fame.

He was 82 when he died of pneumonia at his home at Shifnal in July 2012.

Former referee Alex Hamil met Mr Taylor in the late 1950s when he was a young up and coming referee in the Wolverhampton leagues.

"Jack was already a football league referee by then," said Mr Hamil, 80, from from Ettingshall Park. "He took me under his wing and was always there to offer help and support."

"Jack didn't have an enemy in the world. He was loved and respected wherever he went. He produced some wonderful pieces of refereeing. But even when he was at the very top he never forgot his roots. He was a proud Wolverhampton man."

Mr Hamil recalls an incident during a Football League Referees Alliance meeting that he says sums up his old friend. "One of the national newspapers wanted to run a contest to vote on the best referee in the country," he said.

"Jack stood up and said he was completely against it, arguing that we shouldn't start picking out referees as we were all in it together."

"Everyone was shocked because we all knew there would only have been one winner...Jack!"

"He didn't care about the personal accolades. That was his nature."

Wolves club historian John Hendley said Mr Taylor's latest honour was richly deserved.

"He was always renowned by the players as one of the best in the game," Mr Hartley said.

"If the players think you are the best then you must be pretty good, and it came from the best players in the world."

"In the World Cup Final that he refereed, he showed no fear in awarding the penalty in the first minute or booking the German captain. Both penalties he awarded were the right decisions."

"He also booked Johann Cruyff in that game. Cruyff didn't know that a Dutch linesman had taught Jack some Dutch swear words, so when Cruyff was swearing at him he knew exactly what he was saying."

"He was a very quiet man, a decent man. "Jack was respected by everyone in Wolverhampton and this award is fully deserved."

"He was in it for the love of the game, not the money. He loved the game and loved it to be played properly."

He added: "At Molineux, the referee's room is named the Jack Taylor Room. It gives visiting referees something to aspire to."

"If they could become half as good as Jack was, they wouldn't be a bad referee."

Bid to get booze licence back fails

BOSSSES of a shop in Tividale have failed in an effort to regain a licence to sell alcohol after concerns were raised by police and trading standards.

Lifestyle Express in Tividale Road was stripped of its licence last year after non-duty paid alcohol was seized from the premises. Alcohol had also been sold to a youth three years earlier. Even after the licence had been revoked, alcohol was found being displayed for sale in the shop.

Nargus Bedum, who has taken over the business, said the shop had been hit hard by not being able to sell alcohol and also claimed she had not been involved with the business since 2010.

But police and trading standards said they were not convinced there had been enough of a 'divorce' from the previous regime.

West Midlands Police licensing officer Mick Boyd said he believed the application was nothing more than a 'ploy'.

Rail police take on more staff after 388,000 calls and texts

MORE than 370,000 calls and 18,000 texts were logged with British Transport Police, prompting a recruitment drive to help meet demand.

Extra call handlers are needed for the Birmingham contact centre, which deals with non-emergency calls from train passengers and railway staff.

Eleven jobs will be up for grabs to begin with, although more are set to follow in the coming months.

The new workers will join the existing 59 call handlers in the Birmingham control room.

It follows the launch of the 61016 text number in 2013 which has led to a surge in the number of messages and information being logged with the service.

Calls handlers also keep an eye on Twitter and respond to queries posted on social media.

People can report incidents that have already happened, such as thefts, or passengers can report issues affecting their rail journey or their local station.

The contact centre operates 24 hours a day, 365 days a year and the call handlers are the first point of contact for both the public and train operating companies.

Force contact manager Tony Taylor said: "We recognise the way people want to communicate with us is changing and no other force control room in the country uses text or social media to the extent we do.

"Because of our pioneering approach, our Birmingham contact centre needs committed and customer-focused people to join our teams of call handlers and help us manage our calls for service.

"The number of people using our 61016 text number to contact us has grown significantly since its introduction in 2013. "Last year, there was a 145 per cent increase in the number of texts we received.

"Passengers are advised however that when a crime is happening, someone suspected of a crime is nearby or someone is injured, being threatened or in danger, they should not use the non-emergency number and instead call 999.

Officers act over gangs of youths

YOBS who have been disturbing people visiting shops on two housing estates in Dudley have sparked a police crackdown.

People complained that groups of youths had been hanging around the shops on the Wrens Nest and Old Park Farm estates.

Police have stepped up patrols in a bid to curb the problem and move groups on. Details of the youths will be taken by officers and then home visits conducted to inform parents of concerns.

Neighbourhood officers say if problems still persist then a dispersal order can be used to break up the gatherings of young people.

The police crackdown is part of action across the Black Country to deter youths from gathering in large numbers, causing a nuisance or intimidating the public.

Hole lot of bother for residents

Resident Richard Lowe is unhappy with the unexpected works in Orchard Road

RESIDENTS have been left without gas or electricity, some with stranded cars, after workers began digging unannounced in their street.

Work by National Grid began in Orchard Road, Dudley Wood, last week to the surprise of residents.

The company said the work been scheduled for last June but the works had been delayed until this month.

National Grid admitted it had failed to inform residents of the new date and has apologised after houses were left with no water, gas or electricity. Some residents have not been able to move their cars as deep holes have been dug directly outside drives.

Richard Lowe was dismayed by the lack of notice. He said: "I've had everything switched off, electricity, gas, water, heating — this is not on at all. The potholes are absolutely huge. It's a narrow enough street as it is without having gigantic holes.

"We should have been notified and kept updated by National Grid. It's unbelievable to think they've just turned up without warning and began digging away."

National Grid spokesperson Jane Taylor said: "Work was meant to begin on replacing the gas mains at Orchard Road in June 2015, where we did send out letters to residents to forewarn them.

"Unfortunately we had to reschedule the date of this work to early this year and I believe no new letters were sent out telling residents of the updated plans.

"I sincerely apologise to people living in the street who have been inconvenienced but it is necessary work. We aim to be as swift as possible and have the gas mains replaced within the next four."

Country star on way to sing at Glee Club

GRAMMY award-winning country singer Patty Griffin is in concert at Birmingham Glee Club on Sunday.

The Texas-based songstress won the Grammy for her 2010 album Downtown Church and her most recent album, Servant of Love, was released last year.

Griffin, who has a nine album back catalogue, was also featured on Robert Plant's Band of Joy album and toured with the former Led Zeppelin singer.

Support at the Arcadian centre venue comes from Mississippi-born Frankie Lee. Tickets cost £20. Doors open 7pm.

There is more country music at the same venue on Wednesday, January 27, with Texan singer-songwriter Aaron Watson, who last year released his 12th album The Underdog. He will be joined by California-based Sam Outlaw who has just released his debut album Angeleno. Tickets cost £15.

See the club's website for further details.

Play return by demand

OF Mice and Men is returning to Birmingham Repertory Theatre from February 4 to 13 by popular demand.

The play from the John Steinbeck novel is about farm workers in the US during the Great Depression and is directed by Rep artistic director Roxana Silbert.

It was a success at the Centenary Square theatre in 2014 and returns with a new cast including William Rodell, Kristian Phillips and stage and TV veteran Dudley Sutton. Tickets from £13.50 on 0121 236 4455.

Guide dog Natalie shows MP the way for charity

Dudley North MP Ian Austin takes a blind-folded walk in Dudley town centre with guide dog Natalie and team leader Andy Guile

DUDLEY North MP Ian Austin took to the streets blind-folded to promote the work of the Beacon Centre for the Blind.

Mr Austin, who has joined a new Parliamentary group on sight loss, was led by Natalie the Labrador in a bid by the Sedgley-based charity to highlight the challenges blind and partially-sighted people face on a daily basis.

The Eye Health and Visual Impairment All-Party Parliamentary Group works to inform MPs about treatment and support for people suffering from sight loss and blindness. The Dudley Labour MP has joined it to help promote the Beacon Centre for the Blind in Sedgley, which provides specialist services and support for people with visual impairment.

Mr Austin has previously backed campaigns by the national Guide Dogs for the charity to improve blind people's access to support and services.

Experience

He said: "It was an unbelievable experience. I think everybody should do this.

"You've got no idea what's around, what the obstacles are, where the traffic is, if there's something outside the shop. It's indescribable.

"People involved in planning town centres should do this before they do the work."

He added: "The Beacon Centre for the Blind does brilliant work here in Dudley, so I will be working to promote them and speak up for local blind people."

Stourbridge MP Margot James also took part in a blind-folded walk to highlight the experiences a partially or fully blind person would have in a town. The Conservative MP said: "I was shocked at how different the experience made me feel."

Follow the yellow brick road — to Netherton

Janet Kirkham, Bethan Siviter-Coupland and Melissa Huband are the three witches in The Wizard of Oz

THE annual pantomime from a youthful group of performers is set to be another smash hit.

The Young Ones and Their Guests are putting the finishing touches to their performance of The Wizard of Oz.

The group is made up of a talented group of seven to 18-year-olds. The first performance will be at Netherton Arts Centre on Saturday.

Director and choreographer Audrey Hepwood, who has been involved with the group for 30 years, said: "Cinderella, Aladdin and Sleeping Beauty are all great fun, but we've done them all over the years. We were looking for something a bit different.

"That's why we decided on The Wizard of Oz."

The show starts this Saturday and runs until the following Saturday, January 30.

Evening performances start at 7.15pm with matinee shows on the weekend begin at 2.30pm.

For ticket details call Chris Sykes on (01884) 895266. Tickets cost £9 or £10.

Rockers swagger back with style

ALBUMS

by Leon Burakowski

THE classic bluesy rock from White Bear, the second album from The Temperance Movement, further establishes this British band as torch bearers for honest no-nonsense rock.

Their music is in the swaggering tradition of The Black Crowes and AC/DC with nods to the reflective West Coast style of the likes of Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young.

The band already have a reputation as a great live act and White Bear will add to their legion of fans, particularly thanks to full-throated Scottish frontman Phil Campbell.

They have already won The Rolling Stones' seal of approval, having been chosen to support the living legends on tour.

Highlights on White Bear include the stomping Three Bullets and the free-wheeling, expansive A Pleasant Peace I Feel.

Notorious

Check them out in concert at Birmingham's O2 Institute in Digbeth on Monday, January 25.

Notorious for unpleasant on-stage antics, it's a safe bet that Fat White Family aren't looking to become family favourites by name checking Killer GP Doctor Shipman, Italian dictator Mussolini and Hitler's henchman Joseph Goebbels with tracks on second album Songs For Our Mothers.

Their sound is so slippery it's hard to pin down, which isn't a bad thing. Safe to say, if you enjoy the loose grooves of The Happy Mondays and/or the intensity of John Lydon's PIL, this ramshackle bunch are certainly worth listening to.

I suspect that with a little more focus Songs For Our Mothers could have been an exceptional album. There are more than a few hints of that amid all the frazzled strangeness.

It begins with the relentless Krautrock rhythm of Whitest Boy On The Beach, takes it to another woozy level on Satisfied, and reaches its zenith with Duce — imagine some mad jam involving The Yardbirds, the Glitter Band and chanting Gregorian monks.

The delivery of lyrics range from whispers to screams with chants in between, and are mostly indistinct, which is perhaps a good thing given the band's desire to shock. But the cumulative effect is wonky, weird and overwhelming.

You can catch Fat White Family live when they kick off their latest tour at Birmingham's O2 Institute on February 20 — don't say I didn't warn you.

Nearly three years on from the debut album by Savages, Silence Yourself, Adore Life finds the London-based black-clad female band perfecting their spiky goth/punk sound, which recalls the likes of Penetration and Siouxsie and the Banshees, with a theme that often returns to sexual politics.

Lead singer Jehny Beth has a stentorian tone but also reveals a more vulnerable side on Adore and Slowing Down The World.

But if you want pure punk attitude, it doesn't come much more withering than the put-down I Need Something New. When In Love is a stand-out track with its queering lyric and incendiary passion whilst Mechanics makes for a dark, apocalyptic closure.

Geological gems are in bid for global status

Once a coral reel in a tropical sea, Wren's Nest is an important geological site due to its huge range of fossils

A BID has been made to have the Black Country's hidden geological gems officially recognised worldwide.

If successful, the Black Country will be granted Global Geopark status and join a network of places of natural beauty, encompassing countries as diverse as Australia, Brazil, China, Austria, Malaysia and Italy.

The Black Country's application has now been submitted to United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation.

Two sites highlighted in the bid include Dudley's Wren's Nest National Nature Reserve, where the cliffs are covered in vertical ripple beds which once lay under the sea, and is home to 700 different fossils — 86 of which cannot be found anywhere else in the world.

Armada

Another example is Barr Beacon Local Nature Reserve, one of the original beacon sites that warned off the approaching Spanish fleet the Armada, when England was threatened with invasion by Catholic Spain in the Elizabethan era.

Barr Beacon has a quarry that provided much of the sand and gravel that built Birmingham and is scarred by a deep valley created at the end of the last Ice Age, 20,000 years ago.

There are 109 Global Geoparks in the world, ranging from Torbay and the Scottish Highlands in the UK, to volcanic sites in Iceland and Japan.

Council chiefs say it will boost the local economy and will provide a host of new opportunities for learning. A scrutiny visit from UNESCO and the Global Geopark Network is expected during spring or summer and the final outcome of the application will be announced in the autumn.

Strictly Stunning

Salsa dancer Norma's new smile would get a 'ten from Len'

Norma Aston — all my confidence is back

A PICTURE snapped at a dance group's farewell party to mark a friend's departure to Jamaica showed more than what vivacious Norma Aston was expecting.

As the well-wishes were made and memorable dancing stories exchanged amongst members of the Uksalsafest classes at Willenhall's Chart Centre, the cameras and smart phones did their work.

But a single profile shot of Norma captured a different story to all the other photographs taken at that event.

"My teeth had been troublesome for years, but when I saw the photo and realised just how far forward my top teeth had moved I knew I had to get something done. It was a turning point for me," recalls Norma of Willenhall.

The youthful 60-something-year-old salsa enthusiast, who attends classes every Saturday to help perfect her technique in this pastime made popular by programmes like Strictly Come Dancing, adds: "There were a number of things that came together which encouraged me to get things sorted.

"I had seen an article in my local paper about a woman, Ann [Skitt], who attends the same gym as myself at the centre. I was impressed how problems with her teeth were resolved."

Ann, a patient of Denture Clinic principal Steven Burchell Dip CDT RCS(Eng), suffered with an ill-fitting, lower denture and a long-standing issue was fixed with an implant-retained prosthesis.

Adds Norma: "I knew what I wanted and was already in my mind going down the implant denture route.

"At the same time, my step-daughter was encouraging me to see her implant dentist, the well-respected Dr Owain Rees."

"I asked my regular dentist to refer me to Steven and a consultation was arranged. Dental work is such a visual thing and unlike hospital surgical work we get to choose who undertakes it.

"It was so important for me that I made the correct choice."

Enthusiastic

Husband Don, a former design engineer and dance band frontman, who met Norma 32 years ago while playing at the Corpus Christi Centre, Wednesfield, takes up the story: "We'd done some research, but websites can really say anything and it's not the same as getting an impression face to face. When we saw Steven, he was so enthusiastic about his work and instilled confidence in us that his clinic would be able to do the job well. But I had one searching question that was really important to me. I told him 'I know my wife' and then asked: 'Will she still be the same after the work is completed?'

"Steven was very reassuring and told me she would look the same, but with better teeth. We were never pressured and told to go away and think things through before making a decision."

With referrals in-house, Norma was seen by North Street Dental and Implant Clinic surgeon Dr Owain Rees BDS, DGDIP (UK) DIP IMP DENT (UCL). Under one roof, with four modern surgeries, the clinical discipline of high quality denture provision sits side by side with general, cosmetic and implant dentistry. Norma's treatment plan included intravenous sedation, the placing of six lower implants to support a removable overdenture and a traditional upper denture prescription. The former City Hospital accounts manager, says: "Knowing that Owain was going to do the surgery was great."

"He explained everything and I embraced the treatment plan.

"I'd always cared for my teeth, but I have a family history of gum problems and for more than 20 years I'd had a partial denture. I never realised it didn't fit properly until I saw Steven. I'd just grown into it.

"My new teeth . . . I couldn't ask for more and I'm amazed at the difference. They look so natural," she adds. Don agrees her new smile is "stunning."

Confidence is back

Norma enjoys a hectic lifestyle juggling dancing with personal commitments and volunteer stints at the Locksmith's House, Willenhall, a well-preserved piece of living Victorian history.

"I love working there and Don helps too. I used to be self-conscious of my smile when meeting people and was always careful how I smiled. Now I have all my confidence back and my only regret is that I didn't get my teeth sorted out three years ago."

Return of Rocky's raunchy musical

Do the time warp again with those naughty s-extraterrestrials when The Rocky Horror Show arrives in Birmingham

SINCE its first appearance at London's Royal Court Theatre in June 1973, Richard O'Brien's The Rocky Horror Show has become the world's favourite rock 'n' roll musical. It has been performed for over 40 years and has been translated into more than 20 languages, as well as becoming a cult movie.

Director Christopher Luscombe created a new production to celebrate the 40th anniversary and this version of the show is back by popular demand, embarking on a year-long national tour including a stint at Birmingham's New Alexandra Theatre from Monday to Saturday. X Factor finalist and chart-topper Diana Vickers will star in the role of Janet Weiss, opposite Emmerdale actor Ben Freeman as Brad Majors. S Club 7 star Paul Cattermole will join them as rocker Eddie and Dr Scott. West End star Liam Tamne, who shot to fame on The Voice, has been cast as transsexual alien icon Frank N Furter. Following over 900 performances of the 40th anniversary tour, Kristian Lavercombe returns as Riff Raff. The musical extravaganza features classic songs including Science Fiction/Double Feature, Dammit Janet and, of course, The Time-Warp.

Double double toil and trouble

ACTORS John Heffernan and Anna Maxwell Martin will star as the most famous power couple in drama in an ambitious and highly physical new staging of Shakespeare's Macbeth, at Birmingham Repertory Theatre from Tuesday to Saturday.

Scottish nobleman Macbeth, inspired by the prophecy of three witches, embarks on a murderous journey of power, treachery and paranoia in his bid to gain the Scottish throne, encouraged by his ambitious wife.

Maxwell Martin (pictured left as Lady Macbeth) is a twice Bafta award winning actress, for Bleak House and Poppy Shakespeare, also known for Death Comes to Pemberley. She was most recently seen on TV screens in The Frankenstein Chronicles, Midwinter of the Spirit and the BBC's Christmas whodunnit And Then There Were None.

Luther

Heffernan, who plays Macbeth, is one of this country's leading stage actors with the National Theatre and the Royal Shakespeare Company. He has also recently been seen on screen in Dickensian and Luther.

The production has been directed by Carrie Cracknell and choreographer Lucy Guerin, who also collaborated on the National Theatre's acclaimed production of Medea.

The Rep will stage several Shakespeare plays this year, including Twelfth Night and King Lear, to mark the 400th anniversary of his death. See www.birmingham-rep.co.uk

Strictly fabulous as celebs keep dancing

THE Strictly Come Dancing Live Tour returns to Birmingham for a fab-ulous ninth year. Leading the pack will be this year's Glitter Ball winner Jay McGuiness, from boyband The Wanted. He will be partnered again by professional Aliona Vilani, who has announced that she is quitting the BBC TV show. Other celebrities booked in for the three-day Birmingham run from tomorrow (Fri) to Sunday are Georgia May Foote, Helen George, Frankie Bridge, Ainsley Harriott, Anita Rani, and Jake Wood. The Boy Who Bit Picasso is at Newhampton Arts Centre, Dunkley Street, on Saturday at 2.30pm. There will be performances for schools the day before. The show by Untied Artists and Oxford Playhouse brings artist Antony Penrose's children's book to life and combines storytelling, music and art. Singer puts back tour to the autumn

REBECCA Ferguson has re-scheduled her Lady Sings the Blues tour, postponing her Birmingham concert for nearly ten months. The X Factor finalist, who was runner-up to Matt Cardle in 2010, won fans for her husky vocals and was due to perform at the Symphony Hall on January 23. The third album by the 29-year-old Liverpoolian features her versions of classic songs by jazz singer Billie Holiday. But the concert has now been moved to November 2. Miss Ferguson said: "I have made the decision to change the dates for my tour and focus on getting the (new) album ready."

Eva Kor
The Girl Who Forgave the Nazis (Channel 4, 8pm)
In the summer of 2015 former Auschwitz clerk Oskar Groening – then aged 93 – was charged as an accessory to the murder of more than 300,000 Jews at the infamous death camp. During the subsequent trial, 81-year-old Auschwitz survivor Eva Kor was called to give her testimony on the medical experiments she endured at the hands of Josef Mengele. Finding herself face-to-face with a Nazi for the first time in more than 70 years, Eva chose to embrace Groening, publicly forgiving him despite the role he played in the deaths of most of her family. This documentary explores the impact of her decision to absolve Groening, who was ultimately sentenced to four years in prison.

New series serves up a simple yet tasty treat

You just can't keep a good woman down, which perhaps explains why Mary Berry is back on the box this week – not just once, but twice.

She will be judging, alongside regular cohort Paul Hollywood, the efforts of a variety of famous faces who have agreed to take part in the new run of The Great Sport Relief Bake Off, which begins on Wednesday.

But before then, we can catch her in action in this offering, one that takes us back to basics.

Many TV cooks have, over the years, attempted to teach the nation to do more than just open a tin of beans, and they've done it with varying degrees of success. We reckon Mary will turn out to be the best of the lot.

Rather than going through such mundane tasks as boiling an egg or cooking pasta the right way, she offers handy practical tips on how to prepare simple but tasty and quick recipes that will keep everyone at home happy – and even serve you well if you're organising a dinner party for family or friends.

Commissioning editor Tom Edwards says: "Mary is one of the ultimate icons of cookery programming. It's a delight to serve her latest offering to a BBC Two audience.

"This series connects with something that is essential to Mary – delicious food, made foolproof."

Sadly, Mary's TV career hasn't been foolproof of late. Hollywood attempted to take the Bake Off to, er, Hollywood, when he made The American Baking Competition in 2013, but it bombed, never to rise again.

Mary followed in his footsteps late in 2015 with The Great Holiday Baking Show, which aped our own offering as closely as it could. It should have had success' written all over it, but instead it received the same kind of reception as Hollywood would give a tart with a soggy bottom – it lost almost a million viewers in a week.

Despite this setback, Mary is still keen on bringing her homespun wisdom to as many people as possible – and it seems that, if she is attracted to a project, she will grab it with both hands. It's an approach she credits to a three-month spell she had in hospital after contracting polio as a child; she claims that being away from her family toughened her up and inspired her to make the most of every opportunity.

Mary will turn 81 in March, an age when many people are slowing down and enjoying their retirement. Instead, she heads back into the kitchen – something that delights her army of fans.

In the first edition of this series, she regales viewers with memories of her life, family and friends while demonstrating how to prepare five dishes suitable for special days and celebrations, including salmon fillets with herbs and red pepper and a side dish of spirals of vegetables as well as an indulgent treat of lobster tails with aioli and asparagus.

And if you forget the instructions, as you might have already guessed, Mary has written a book to accompany the series, which is published on Thursday.

Mary Berry's Foolproof Cooking, Monday, BBC2, 8.30pm

BEST OF THE REST

Crashing, Channel 4, 10pm
Life in the dilapidated hospital rumbles on, and we're enjoying every minute of watching it pan out. Phoebe Waller-Bridge's sitcom is an absolute delight, focusing on a group of people who have set up home in a disused building, paying minimal rent while attempting to prevent it becoming derelict. It's a great premise, and one that allows a real mixed bag of characters to take up residence. Among them is resident Irish curry chef Anthony, who this week organises an evening of spicy delights. Unfortunately, his efforts look set to be ignored as the event descends into chaos that leaves not just the fruits of his labour on the floor. Meanwhile, relationships come to the fore as Fred introduces his housemates to his new boyfriend.

TUESDAY
The Mad World of Donald Trump, Channel 4, 9pm
He's already a multi-billionaire tycoon, but now Donald Trump is out to become the President of the USA – and by extension, the most powerful person on the planet. His campaign is already one of the most controversial the US has ever seen, complete with plans to ban Muslims from entering the States and to construct a wall to keep out Mexican immigrants. However, his promise to 'make America great again' has clearly resonated with many voters, and he's currently leading the polls for the Republican presidential nomination. Here, Matt Frei tries to uncover the man behind the brand, exploring Trump's colourful past and asking if he really could make it all the way to the White House.

WEDNESDAY
Holocaust Memorial Day, BBC2, 7pm
With more than 200 survivors in attendance, a unique commemoration at Guildhall, London marks Holocaust Memorial Day and remembers those persecuted and murdered by the Nazis, and those who died in later genocides. The ceremony includes personal testimony, music and poetry, with actors Sheila Hancock, Robert Lindsay, Kevin Whately and Freddie Fox taking part. Plus, the internationally renowned choir of Clare College Cambridge performs, and acclaimed violinist Jennifer Pike plays the theme from Schindler's List.

The Great Sport Relief Bake Off, BBC1, 8.30pm
The celebrity edition of The Great British Bake Off returns, with each episode featuring four celebrities as they tackle three challenges set by judges Paul Hollywood and Mary Berry. Mel Giedroyc hosts the first edition, as comedian Jason Manford, Eastenders actress Maddy Hill, ex-England goalkeeper David James, and business woman and wife of the Prime Minister Samantha Cameron bake for Sport Relief in the Bake Off tent. For the signature challenge, they must make 24 canapes using rough puff pastry made from scratch, before creating Paris Brest, a French pastry confection, in the technical.

The Great Sport Relief Bake Off, Wednesday, BBC1, 8.30pm

THURSDAY
Britain's Bloody Crown, Channel 5, 8pm
Historian Dan Jones's part-dramatised journey through the War of the Roses reaches its thrilling conclusion tonight. At the centre of the story is Margaret Beaufort, a woman who could be described as being the power behind the throne. She was the mother of Henry Tudor, the man who defeated Richard III at the battle of Bosworth in 1485, and who was eventually crowned as Henry VII. Jones begins Mary's story in January 1457 when, at 13, two months after her husband's death, she gave birth to Henry, and set about doing whatever was necessary to protect her son and keep in her the monarch's good books. But it was her manipulation of certain events, enabling Henry to take control of the country, that remains Mary's biggest achievement.

FRIDAY
MOTD Live: The FA Cup, BBC1, 7.30pm
Derby County v Manchester United (Kick-off 7.55pm). Gary Lineker presents coverage of the match from the fourth round of the famous competition, which takes place at the iPro Stadium. The Rams – chasing promotion back to the Premier League for the first time since the 2007/08 season – will fancy their chances against the Red Devils, who have come under fire this season for playing negative football and suffering some shock defeats.

STANDING outside The Manor House at Whittington I really felt I should be wearing twinset and pearls, not jeans and a jumper.

It looks rather grand and posh from the outside as well as cosy and inviting. The exterior gives little hint as to what is inside.

I was expecting a quaint, simple sleek interior. But what is actually waiting is a modern, contemporary, clean finish mixing a touch of traditional style with a more quirky and eclectic look.

The Grade-I-listed building dates back to 1310 when it was built by Sir William de Whittington and apparently welcomed royalty during its historic past. It reopened last November after a major refurbishment of what was once The Whittington Inn.

Thankfully the bright yellow exterior has long gone as is the tired and dated interior. It's been lovingly restored, with a £1.5 million price tag.

My boyfriend and I, along with both sets of parents, ventured in. The bright, glowing flames from an open fire were the first thing we saw. The bar area is airy and light.

Our table was comfy and intimate but a little bit too near the kitchen as we kept hearing the chef shout 'service', but it turns out this was also a good thing as we could see the food coming out and the pizzas being made. All of which looked scrumptious.

It had only been open a week so we were prepared for teething problems. There were a few, I'll get to them later.

We sat taking in the menu. The online version was not the same. My parents were ready for a turkey dinner and a risotto dish neither of which featured. We quizzed our waitress, Stacey, who went to find out what was going on. Apparently it's the wrong menu online. Ooops! Hopefully this is now resolved. Most was the same though so it was no great drama.

Service was slow at times but the staff, who were friendly and lovely, were probably finding their feet.

Drinks arrived, orders were taken and we sat back to take in the new decor. Rich burgundy and teal added a bright touch to the classic olde worlde charm.

For starters we'd gone for a couple of Camembert sharers with great hunks of toasted sourdough bread and a sticky onion

For the mains I'd gone for a pretty basic pizza, less is more. Marinated buffalo mozzarella, mozzarella, sun-dried tomatoes and basil on the best base I've ever tasted.

Mum had gone for the butternut squash tart. She loved the flavours but the potato salad was a little dry with no dressing. Dad had the Jospir roasted half chicken, in beer, thyme and malt butter and enjoyed it.

The fish and chips were also a success as the boyfriend's mum tucked in. For the boyfriend and his father burgers arrived, great stacks of chargrilled, perfectly pink in the middle. But... the burgers were cold. They were swiftly and politely replaced with plenty of apologies.

Some of us saved room for dessert. I was defeated but two portions of the dark chocolate and raspberry brownie were ordered.

Full, sated and happy, we all agreed we would return soon. While the food does need a teeny tiny bit of improving, the four stars go to the staff.

YOUR WEEKLY GUIDE TO HOME BUYING AND LETTING

Choosing the right agent for your home

SELECTING which estate agency to sell your home (your biggest asset) can be worrying for anyone. You can make your decision more straightforward by following a few simple rules:

The first thing to do when searching for a quality estate agent is to check that they belong to a professional body like the NAEA. This is because all our members have to complete an accredited qualification on estate agency and are bound by strict rules. Selecting an agent who is one of our members will ensure your peace of mind as they offer a solid understanding of the market, and furthermore, we offer you a fair complaints procedure.

A great help when selecting an agent is reputation. If family, friends, neighbours or people you know have had a good experience with a particular agent, then this can be a great help in making your decision.

Look out for the number of 'for sale' signs and in particular 'sold' signs around your local area. This will tell you which agents are most popular, and therefore can generate more leads for you.

Advertisements for properties in the local newspapers will also tell you which agents stand out from the rest and also tell you which areas the agents cover. The local press will help to inform you how the local market is performing. This empowers you when talking to agents, buyers and interested parties.

Make sure you get on well with your chosen agent – this will be invaluable during the whole process.

Remember, choosing a member of the NAEA offers higher standards, protection and a complaints procedure for you. You can search for NAEA members at <http://www.naea.co.uk/find-agent/>

Making your home more attractive

THERE'S a range of things you can do to make your home more attractive when you decide to put it on the market, from reorganising the furniture to tidying the garden.

A welcoming kitchen is one of the biggest attractions for potential house buyers. Whether you have a comfortable family oriented meeting place or a stylish singletons galley, the kitchen is most often the heart of the home.

Regardless of your budget, there are a number of simple ways you can maximise its attraction to buyers and speed up the sale of your house: Replacing your entire kitchen to attract buyers is not always necessary. Often the cost of installing a new kitchen outweighs the value it will add to your asking price. Like all home decor, the kitchen will still be subject to personal taste, so if it does not appeal to your buyers they will refit it upon moving in anyway. If your kitchen is very dated, simple changes can make all the difference. Painting the cupboard doors, replacing handles or taps and re-grouting the tiles can all give a new lease of life.

Clean and de-clutter! Viewers may even look in your cupboards so ensure shelves are cleaned and all contents are organised. Any pet bowls should go outside as potential buyers may not be animal lovers so could be put off by the sight of half eaten pet food.

If necessary, box up items you don't use very often and put them in storage. If your cupboards and drawers are overflowing, buyers will assume there is little storage space, which can be off-putting. Keep work surfaces as clear as possible to enhance the appearance of cleanliness.

Flowers or pot pourri on window sills create a welcoming atmosphere and add a fresh fragrance.

Using these simple but effective ideas will ensure your kitchen looks appealing and entices potential buyers into a prompt decision! No matter how big your home, it's important to maximise the rooms to create a sense of space, especially if you are trying to sell your property.

Here are some tips to make any home feel more spacious:

Mirrors are great for making your home feel more spacious. In small areas large mirrors can be used to make the room look longer or wider. They are especially useful in hallways where they can be used to manipulate the perception of space by reflecting light and colour.

Having too big a dining table in your dining room can make the area shrink. To maximize space, put up roman blinds rather than curtains, and plan your storage carefully so that clutter is out of sight. This is especially important in the bedroom, because the less clutter you see, the more relaxing the room will be.

Match neutral colours on the walls with similar flooring in downstairs spaces to give the impression of space flowing from one room to another. Bright shades of carpet or distracting patterns are to be avoided.

If you follow all of these ideas then you are sure to achieve the maximum use of space in your home, and in turn attain the highest possible price for it.

Gardens are too often forgotten in the race to make the most of a property, but their condition can sometimes be the deciding factor on value. It's a common-held belief that the decision on whether or not to buy a property is made within the first few moments of viewing it.

The state of the front garden is therefore a prime consideration for anyone choosing to sell their home. Drive-by desirability is all important as first impressions really do count. Make sure your front garden is neat, tidy and easily maintained. Hanging baskets and flower troughs establish the cared-for look without creating too much work. Any lawn areas should be neatly trimmed, and trees cut back and controlled. A well-presented front door, with pots alongside it, goes a long way towards generating a sense of welcome.

The back of the house is arguably even more important than the front, as this is where the most work is likely to lie. Today's busy lifestyle means the majority of people don't have much time to spend on gardening, so creating some low maintenance areas is invaluable. Decking, paving and woodchips can be used to differentiate areas of the garden and simplify them. Any trees and hedges should be kept under control and fences maintained.

Kia Optima's evolution

By James Parker

The fourth-generation Optima has a modern, new exterior, a bold interior design with more space for occupants, new technologies and a wide choice of efficient powertrains.

The new model offers greater refinement and improved ride and handling over the outgoing model, while retaining the sporty image that has helped Optima become one of Kia's best-selling models worldwide.

The Kia Optima plays an important role in the Kia Motors Europe product line-up, introducing the brand to an increasing number of new customers. Since the third-generation model launched in 2011, with its distinctive look, high-quality interior and high-tech image, the Optima has offered buyers something fresh and different in the D-segment.

The all-new Optima's evolutionary new look was designed to be functional and sporty, with exterior dimensions that are marginally longer, taller and wider. These changes enable a roomier and more comfortable cabin, with more head-, shoulder- and rear-seat leg-room and greater cargo capacity.

This model is the most aerodynamic Optima to date, with drag reduced from 0.3 to 0.29 Cd.

The all-new Kia Optima will be available in Europe in a choice of nine colours, with alloy wheels ranging from 16-in to 18in diameter.

The material quality of the all-new Optima's cabin is significantly improved over the outgoing model, with a far higher proportion of soft-touch materials, as well as cloth and leather trim in natural tones.

Tasteful metallic accents throughout the cabin add a higher quality ambience to the interior.

The larger interior and exterior dimensions ensure that the all-new model is the most practical, spacious and comfortable. Cargo space has grown from 505 to 510 litres (VDA), with the under-floor storage area and a wider boot opening adding greater practicality.

High-strength

It features a uniquely engineered body which combines more high-strength materials than ever before, resulting in even higher standards of crash safety. While passive safety is improved, the new model is also equipped with a series of high-tech active and autonomous safety features, and Kia's engineers have targeted a five-star Euro NCAP safety rating throughout the Optima's development programme.

Kia's vehicle stability management is fitted as standard, ensuring stability under braking and cornering by controlling the car's electronic stability control and electric motor-driven power steering if it detects a loss of traction.

The Optima is available with a wide range of optional active hazard-avoidance technologies, depending on market.

The new model offers greater refinement and improved ride and handling
.....

Improving ride and handling was a top priority for Kia's dynamic development teams, with a focus on delivering the ride comfort and stability customers expect from a D-segment sedan, while achieving the level of agility promised by the car's sportier appearance.

The all-new Optima debuts a number of new, advanced on-board technologies to improve usability, comfort and convenience.

The touchscreen infotainment system is paired with a six-speaker audio system as standard.

A powerful Harman Kardon premium sound system, featuring 10 speakers, an external amplifier and Clari-Fi MP3 restoration technology, is also available as an option.

The all-new Kia Optima will offer the company's unique seven-year, 150,000km warranty as standard.

More than a Mondeo but still practical

By Matt Joy

Ford has released the first car to wear its up-market Vignale badge, but is it just a more expensive Mondeo or something more substantial?

This is brand new territory for Ford, as it seeks to muscle in on the compact premium sector with the Mondeo Vignale. More than just a trim designation, Vignale models sit at the top of the Mondeo range and have unique exterior and interior elements and are designed to offer superior comfort.

What's more, they are finished in a special area of Ford's Valencia factory, with additional layers of paint and higher quality standards, and if you buy one you can only do so from specially-chosen Ford dealers. You'll get a higher standard of service too, with free collection and pick-up from your dedicated Vignale dealerperson.

On the outside, there's its unique alloy wheels, a gloss finish to the grille and pillars, and some extra chrome detailing, plus those unmissable badges. The Mondeo Vignale is also available in just four colours: black, silver, white and 'Nocciola' - brown to you and me.

It's a handsome machine, arguably more so in estate form, and while the Vignale extras do make it feel a little more posh, there's no denying it's still clearly a Mondeo. It's very early days for this sub-brand, and only time will tell if buyers respond to its perceived elevation over the standard car.

It gets better on the inside, however. As the Vignale sits above the Titanium X in the Mondeo range, it is positively groaning with kit. There's a big Sony audio system with satnav and Ford's SYNC2 system, active noise cancelling (more of which later), ambient lighting and you can even have ventilated massage seats.

Practical

There's also leather - tons of the stuff. The seats have their own pattern (designed to echo that of the front grille) plus it's on the dashboard, the doors and even on the centre armrest. It's here you begin to feel that you're getting something for the additional outlay, although obviously it is just as practical as a regular Mondeo.

As you'd expect, the Vignale is standard Mondeo underneath, but that's no bad thing. What has changed is that the suspension has been tweaked to deliver a smoother ride, while there's acoustic side glass as standard and the noise cancelling system to keep the cabin hushed.

With the most-popular 2.0 TDCI unit and the Powershift transmission taking care of gearshifts, piloting the Mondeo Vignale is a genuinely relaxing experience. The ride may be smoother but it still has the Ford sharpness of response you'd expect, while the reduction in noise levels is a welcome improvement.

Most of the German competition go for a sporty feel, whereas the Mondeo Vignale is comfort oriented, which potentially gives it an advantage on the UK's poor roads.

Take a look at the spec sheet and the final price makes sense. The options list is very small indeed, while the standard spec runs to that sophisticated Sony system including satnav, a rear view camera, ambient lighting and a fully-electric driver's seat. A complete leather interior and the special alloy wheels come with it too. It's worth noting, however, that the key German rivals are very close on price, although, if you equalise the specification, a big price gap opens up.

So will the Mondeo Vignale find favour with customers, or sit forlornly in its special corner of the showroom? Well, the fact is that buyers do like high-spec Mondeos; the stats show that the Titanium X simply isn't enough for some. It's also a useful higher step for people climbing the company car ladder, and Ford is clear about most of its sales coming in this way. There's also a hybrid version if you want the petrol electric combination.

This car summed up in a single word: Soothing. If this car was a jacket, it would be sumptuous and welcoming woollen overcoat.

Salute to the McLaren F1

According to its creator, Gordon Murray, the McLaren F1 was "an attempt to build the best engineered driver's car ever made."

It was an attempt that clearly succeeded... according to F1 owner and serial car collector Jay Leno, it is simply "the Greatest Car of the 20th Century."

Produced between 1992 and 1998, just 106 examples were built. Of that figure a mere 64 were standard road cars, so there's only a remote chance of seeing one in the flesh.

Unless you head to the London Classic Car Show at London's ExCeL centre next month, that is. For a special display devoted to the F1 and curated by designer Gordon Murray will form one of the major attractions at the show.

No fewer than five F1s will be shown – two standard road cars, two GTR racers and a 'long tail' F1 GT road car. Last year we paid tribute to Adrian Newey with an amazing display of his world beaters; this year we are putting the spotlight on Gordon Murray and, in particular, the amazing McLaren F1 he fathered," explained Event Director, Bas Bungish. "All those involved in what's clearly going to be a very special homage to the F1 believe it will be by far the best, and most complete, insight ever put together for the public – thus something no car enthusiast will want to miss. As well as Gordon himself, we are working very closely with those at McLaren's own MSO Heritage and acknowledged F1 specialists Lanzante to ensure this fabulous display is as comprehensive and detailed as possible."

To give visitors a unique insight into the world's first 'million dollar motor' – the McLaren cost £634,500 when new – one of the road cars will be displayed with its doors, bonnet and engine cover open, while one of the racers will have its exterior panels removed to show what goes on under the skin.

The showcase will be completed with a number of F1-related artefacts including the race suit worn by JJ Lehto when he won the 1995 Le Mans 24 Hours in an F1. Also on display will be the road car's bespoke luggage, a BMW engine block, one of the TAG Heuer watches given to each owner and engraved with their car's build number and an example of the car's bespoke tool kit, made from gold-plated titanium no less.

Technical drawings, photos and special films produced by McLaren to celebrate the car's 20th anniversary its famous Le Mans 24 Hours victory in 2015 will also be shown.

"When we started work on the F1 we benchmarked all the existing supercars from Ferrari, Lamborghini, Porsche and so on, as well as aspects of cars as varied as the contemporary Honda NSX and the 1960s

No fewer than five F1s will be shown – two standard road cars, two GTR racers and a 'long tail' F1 GT road car

Lotus Elan. The idea was to better the performance, vehicle dynamics, handling and ride comfort of all of them at the same as producing a car that could, genuinely, be used every day.

"We achieved it all... except perhaps the steering. The F1 gets very close but doesn't quite better the purity of the Lotus Elan's steering," said Murray.

Partly because each car took three and a half months to build and partly because it is crammed full of exotic materials including gold leaf, titanium, magnesium and Kevlar, McLaren lost money on each car made despite that heady price tag.

Those with the foresight and wherewithal to buy the car when it was new, however, couldn't have made a better investment. Last August a 1998 McLaren F1 LM sold at auction in America by Sotheby's for close to £9 million.

One of the unique features of the London Classic Car Show is The Grand Avenue, a roadway running through the centre of the exhibition hall along which classics of all different shapes and sizes are put through their paces.

It is anticipated that one of the McLarens will take to The Grand Avenue during the show, so visitors will not just be able to gaze at this remarkable British car at rest, but see and hear it in action, too.

Tickets for the London Classic Car Show are on sale now.

Skoda's great car range

Citigo

The Citigo is Skoda's take on the most modern citycar design in the market. With the Czech brand on the bonnet, it makes value sense too.

It's an impressive compact city car which borrows the technological expertise offered by Skoda's parent company, Volkswagen. It then blends it with the value we expect from this rapidly growing Czech brand.

Those in search of a beautifully conceived, affordable and impressively space and fuel-efficient urban runabout should seriously consider it.

Go for the slightly pokier 75PS variant and Skoda includes its efficiency package (with start/stop and everything else) as standard with this engine, so the returns achieved – 67.3mpg on the combined cycle and 98g/km – are substantially better than most rivals.

Whether you opt for your Citigo with 60 or 75PS, the benefits of the efficiency package are important given that they take this car below the 100g/km barrier, making it completely free from congestion charges and delivering all kinds of tax benefits.

Fabia Compact Hatchback and Estate

Skoda ups the ante with its third-generation Fabia, introducing sharper, more assertive styling and clever technology. With more space inside, increased scope for personalisation and better efficiency from its engines, the Fabia has the basics spot on.

The Fabia has done very well for Skoda. Around 3.5 million cars have sold to date, split between 1.8 million first-generation Fabias and around 1.7 million second-generation cars. That's quite some success story. The Fabia blends a mix of abilities and can probably be described as the car that offers the most quality for your pound in its sector.

Skoda Octavia

The talented new Skoda Octavia is bigger and better value than most of its rivals, a medium-sized hatch for the price of a compact-sized one.

If you're after more performance, then you'll appreciate one of the sporty vRS models. Horses for courses you see.

And if those courses are likely to be on the rough and muddy side, then you'll be interested in the four-wheel drive system also developed for this car, primarily for a Scout estate model with additional body cladding and a raised ride height.

Skoda Superb

The aptly-named, prestigious new Skoda Superb looks better than ever, is even more polished inside and backs that up with ever better efficiency measures.

Increasingly, the big hatchback or estate car is filling a bit of a niche. There's little doubt that at this price point it's hard to buy better than the Skoda Superb if you're really not after a 4x4 or a people carrier.

It rides and handles better than any comparatively-priced SUV or MPV we can think of, it's elegantly understated and it makes sense on the balance sheet, too.

Rapid

Skoda understands its customers. Ease of ownership, value pricing and solid build are all priorities. All are satisfied by the Golf competing Rapid.

That the brand can deliver more sophistication than this is not in doubt – the larger Octavia demonstrates that. But the point here is that a significant number of customers just don't need it and the new Rapid is tailor made for them.

In addition Skoda offers the Rapid Spaceback which features a longer wheelbase and sportier look.

Yeti

Then there's the incredible, multi-award winning Yeti, a very spacious but externally compact Yeti, which strikes the perfect balance between on road performance, family orientated practicality and rugged 4x4 styling. It's available with a choice of two or four-wheel drive and diesel and petrol engines.

What makes Skoda's Yeti so appealing? It's spacious, safe, drives well, has a cool but understated image and extremely low running costs. The latest car adds a little equipment, tidies the interior and tweaks the styling but otherwise sticks to a tried and tested recipe. In truth, not a lot needed changing. The Yeti remains a class act.

All new Skodas are covered by a comprehensive, three-year (60,000 mile) parts and labour warranty, a 12-year anti-perforation warranty, plus you'll gain three-year's RAC membership cover.

Suzuki's Celerio an honest car

By John Griffiths

You may have noticed that new car prices are on a rapid upward spiral, so that even some of the 'value' brands now cost the sort of money which would have bought you a premium saloon a few years ago.

But to be fair, even the most cynical among us can't put automotive inflation down to simple profiteering. There is, for example, mounting pressure on car makers to make massive investments in research and development in the fields of safety, fuel economy and reducing exhaust emissions.

Jaguar Land Rover's £1 billion investment in a new plant to produce the super efficient Ingenium diesel engine on the outskirts of Wolverhampton is one example. Then, of course, there are the new hybrid and fuel cell technologies.

Buyers are also demanding more: some cars now have so many electronic gadgets we older folk need a further education course to use them properly. But where does that leave those of us who can't afford a new car, with the benefits of a fuel efficient engine and a peace of mind warranty?

Well, there's the Suzuki Celerio. With one of the largest cabins in the 'city car' class, over 60mpg, zero road tax and one of the cheapest new cars you can buy with prices from £7,414. That's the price for the entry level 'S22' test car: a practical hatchback with few frills but all the essentials. There are better equipped Celerios further up the range, and even a more economical engine, but this base model is hard to beat if you want true value for money motoring.

It still comes, for example, with a full safety package including anti-lock brakes with electronic brake force distribution, emergency brake assist, electronic stability control and six airbags.

There's also a decent DAB radio and CD player, tinted glass electric front windows and an effective heater – but no air conditioning and you have to adjust the wing mirrors with little manual levers instead of electric switches.

The three cylinder, one litre engine has an official fuel average of 65.7mpg, a CO2 rating of 99g/km (so no road tax under current regulations) and insurance shouldn't break the bank with a low 7E (out of 50) rating.

It was a brave decision by Suzuki to replace two older models (the Alto and the Splash) with one, the Celerio. There was an initial problem with a brake part, too, but the company recommissioned the part and retro fitted it to those cars which had already gone out to dealers within days.

The result? Well the Celerio has proved to be a big seller for Suzuki, indicating its the right package which convinces test-driving customers.

Footprint

The Celerio has a small 'footprint' but it's also relatively high which means it's been laid out to seat four adults in comfort – even a 6ft 6ins colleague wasn't cramped in the rear. With its tall stance and five doors, access is easy too.

With light, power assisted steering, a higher-than-average seating position and deep windows it's a breeze to park and to handle around town.

The steering is positive, too, which helps makes the Celerio a pleasant car to drive on the open road. With 68bhp it's no ball of fire but keeps up with even motorway traffic without fuss or excessive engine noise. A typical Suzuki motor, it's more of a purr than a growl.

The ride feels a little firm over poor surfaces, but it's sufficiently well damped to ensure comfort and prevent the bumps throwing the steering off track.

The slowest moving part of the test car was the fuel gauge: while I didn't manage the official 65.7mpg, over a week of driving the actual figure was close to 60mpg which is the best I remember from a petrol car.

If you want, or can afford, to upgrade to the flagship S23 version, you can also have Suzuki's new 'dualjet' engine. While it's basically the same unit, with the same overall power output, it is slightly quicker and considerably more economical. With a new fuel injection system, variable valve timing and a few other technical modifications, it is one of the most efficient petrol engines ever produced. Official figures credit it with an incredible 78.4mpg and an ultra low 84g/km.

There's also an 'automatic' option – in fact it's not a traditional auto but an automated manual box, where the work of the clutch is done by electronics and servos. You can still use the gear lever for manual changes (or not, as suits you).

Higher grade models are, of course, better equipped, too, with features such as air conditioning starting at S22.

The practical split/fold rear seats are standard, though, with cargo space of 254 litres rising to 726 litres when they're folded flat. That's another area in which the Suzuki goes to the top of the city car class.

Suzuki pride themselves on being the small car experts and certainly the Celerio is something of a master class in packaging.

A small footprint on the road with surprising amounts of room inside, excellent economy and low running costs. It's the sort of honest car which the market (and many car buyers) need.

Megane hatch is now right up-to-date

By Ed Wiseman

It's no Renaultsport, but the Megane GT is a comfy and good-looking family car. It's also sexier.

Renault's gorgeous design language has finally reached the Megane, bringing the French brand's long-serving family hatch up to date. It's better inside and out, incredibly comfortable, and boasts plenty of French style. Renault is back on form.

The car is based on a new platform, which gives buyers more space on the inside. Some cars have a portrait touchscreen infotainment system, while the range-topping version gets four-wheel steering and even launch control.

It's probably the most striking car in the sector. It attracts interest even from non-car-people, which is pretty remarkable for an ordinary hatchback.

The headlights have an instantly-recognisable C-shaped LED accent, and the tail lights stretch across nearly the whole back end of the car. This makes the car immediately interesting, even from a distance, and especially at night.

Side-on is the only angle from which the Megane looks a bit conventional. Every corner is sculpted in a pleasing way.

Competitors such as the Vauxhall Astra are easy on the eye, but the Megane is one of the best-looking cars on the road today. Renault lacks the gravitas of some of the German brands but is still a smart, upmarket name.

Comfortable

Like the three Meganes before it, this one is comfy. The ride is nice and soft, and the seats – especially in the front – are gloriously comfortable.

The boot is capacious (384 litres, rising to 1,247 litres with the 60:40-splitting rear seats both folded down). This puts it in line with the class-leaders for storage.

Lots of buttons have been replaced with a touchscreen system which, perhaps unsurprisingly, is harder to use. It's not the worst on the market but could frustrate some users who are more used to conventional controls. The Megane will be able to tow conventional caravans.

The full engine line-up hasn't been released for the UK, but Brits can expect a range of petrol and diesel engines that do the job adequately. Driving the 1.6 diesel engine left a bit to be desired – it falls behind the Astra, which would have been unthinkable 10 years ago.

The GT model, which packs a bit more punch, has 202bhp but is still only in 'warm hatch' territory.

Handling is good, and is imperceptibly improved in the GT version with the addition of four-wheel steering. This allows the back wheels to turn a tiny angle either in the same direction or in the opposite direction to the front wheels, depending on speed. This feels good on windy roads but even better on motorways, where lane changes are noticeably smoother.

It still won't compete with the Ford Focus, or even the Vauxhall Astra. But it handles better than the previous generation and leads the way in comfort. Add-ons for the GT include launch control, which is fun but a bit silly – if you want a proper performance model, wait for the inevitable Renaultsport version.

Starting at around £18,000, the Megane is good value. The quality of the materials used in the more upmarket versions mean it's an attractive option across the range, too.

You'll be disappointed if your priority is driving experience, but if you want a smooth, comfortable family wagon – and one that looks great on your drive – you can't do much better than the new Renault Megane.

Full pricing hasn't been released in the UK, but Renault is likely to undercut competitors such as Audi and BMW – and in a lot of ways, the Megane is a superior product.

The Megane is something a little bit different. It's what French cars used to be – comfy, easy to live with and a little bit quirky. This will appeal to families who value style in addition to substance.

NOTICE TO READERS

Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer:
1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with its Mother.
2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree. Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

Clash goes down to last ball of the innings

Oldswinford (120-3) lost to Enville 'A' (123-3) by three runs
A NEW-look Oldswinford side began proceedings in the WCB Indoor Cricket League with captain Harry Stanier and Owen Williams getting off to a fine start until losing the former, run-out at 40.

Mark Watts (26 no) and Williams (31 no) upped the scoring rate but on the retirement of Williams the run rate declined and a couple of wickets were lost.

Williams' return restored momentum pushing the total on to a competitive 120. In reply the experienced opening pair of Rhodri Parfitt (25 no) and Matt Branch (38 no) put the young Oldswinford bowlers under the cosh.

Enville lost their first wicket at 75 and with both openers gone, the Oldswinford bowlers got a hold on the game and the scoring rate slowed. This unnerved Enville and until the return of Matt Branch a win for Enville looked unlikely but they scraped home on the last ball.

Swindon (129-3) beat Cookley (44 all out) by 85 runs
COOKLEY, on their debut in the Kinver League won the toss, and elected to bowl.

Swindon openers Dave Silcox (31 no) and Luke McDonnell (27 no) took advantage of some unorthodox fielding positions, but the Cookley bowlers stuck manfully to their task as Swindon piled on the runs, finishing on 129-3. Nathan Perry also made 25.

Cookley's first innings in the league did not start well, losing a wicket in the first over. Only Andy Nicholls 24 showed resistance as Cookley's innings finished after only 6.5 overs - all out for 44.

Skeete shooting for Sam's titles

STOURBRIDGE'S Sam Eggington will defend his British and Commonwealth titles for a second time in Birmingham against new foe Bradley Skeete on March 5.

Promoter Eddie Hearn won the purse bids to stage the contest at the Barclaycard Arena under his Matchroom Boxing banner, with Skeete guided by Frank Warren.

Eggington climbed off the canvas in the second round to retain his crowns at the same venue by outpointing Dale Evans last October.

The 22-year-old is now looking to within one fight of a Lonsdale belt, with his final test likely to be vacated champion Frankie Gavin. Essington's Ben Wilkes is confirmed for the under-card and faces a tough test in a 10-round final eliminator for the English middleweight title against Peterborough's Cello Renda.

Two other title fights see Brummie Gamal Yafai challenging for Bobby Jenkinson's newly-won Commonwealth super bantamweight belt. Older brother and reigning British super flyweight champion Kal Yafai will also feature.

A battle of Birmingham will see Michael Rooney and Marcus Ffrench meet for the vacant Midlands lightweight crown.

Tickets have already become available for 'Matchroom Fight Pass' members priced at £40, £60, £100 and £150 VIP, from www.theticketfactory.com.

Dudley's Ryan Aston is preparing for his shot at the big time in London tomorrow night (Friday).

Aston, 24, will undertake his first 12-rounder when he co-challenges for the vacant IBF International light middleweight title at York Hall.

Undefeated opponent and co-challenger Ahmet Patterson is the favourite on his own turf, led by promoter Frank Warren whose television channel BoxNation will broadcast the fight live.

The 28-year-old, from East Dulwich, has already lifted the English and Southern area titles but at welterweight. He's unbeaten in 16, with six stoppages.

Olympic stars pitch up for celebration

OLYMPIC Star Sunday football team members turned back the clock in style as they celebrated 50 years since the club's formation.

Star, who played through the 1960s to the late 1990s when they folded, were an iconic side in the Stourbridge and Lye area - and one of the most feared amateur outfits in the country.

The club's remaining players met at the Gigmill pub in Stourbridge pub to mark the milestone. The team was named Star after the local pub. Former manager and West Midlands non-league football guru, Alan Webb, told how they rose to prominence. "I got married and moved in 1963 where there was a team called Swinford Rangers," he said.

"They played at Swan Pool Park and were part of the Coronation League in Birmingham.

"They weren't really going anywhere and the club took a bit of a hiatus, we went in and changed things. I became the manager."

Webb led the club to great success, they were three-times winners of the Kidderminster Sunday League before moving on to the more competitive Festival Premier League.

The club's home moved to The Plough in Wollas-ton and later to Lye Town.

Trophies

The evergreen Webb still finds himself helping out with Lye under current bosses Martin Thomas and Darren Goodall.

Star went on to appear in numerous finals and claimed a haul of trophies.

Webb's association ran through to the early 1980s, when he stepped into Saturday football and spells with Gornal Athletic, Halesowen Town, Stourbridge and Worcester City.

Webb had long since left the fold when Star caused a stir by going all the way to claim the FA Sunday Cup in 1998 - beating a St Joseph's (Luton) side that included ex-England and Chelsea striker Kerry Dixon in the final at Peterborough's London Road. However, Star folded not long after.

Webb has strong opinions about the club's ending, but his passion and memories will remain with him forever.

"At one point we were voted in the top six Sunday teams in the country," he said. "I'm confident that our side, back in the day, would be comfortable against any of the bigger semi-pro sides around now."

The former players meet up again for reunion in Stourbridge 50 years later

Riders have to tough it out in muddy conditions

A RECORD number of participants - including a strong West Midlands contingent - took part in the national cyclo cross championships in Shrewsbury.

There was real strength across all the categories with ex-Olympian Liam Killeen winning the national men's title, Nikki Harris, fourth in last year's world championships, just edging out Helen Wyman on the last lap to regain the women's title and former Halesowen rider Beth Crompton taking silver in the Women's U23.

The junior racing was significantly oversubscribed with selection based on national ranking points gained throughout the season.

Two riders from Halesowen Cycling Club qualified for the Championship finals on a day where conditions were very tough.

The low lying nature of the course and the recent wet weather meant parts of the course were pure mud with no option but to run carrying the bike rather than ride.

Jamieson Blain came in 39th in the U16s in a result that would have disappointed him after a successful season both in cyclo cross and on the track and road where he has consistently finished among the leaders at national level.

In the U14s up and coming Simon Wylie really showed what a good rider he is becoming, finishing eighth in the National U14s among a very strong field.

In a committed display of riding in tough boggy conditions, hard running through several inches of mud and adept bike handling in the technical sections Wylie finished strongly, completing the race in 40 minutes, only seconds from chasing down fourth spot.

Swim trio are handed 2016 Olympic boost

THREE teenage Olympic hopefuls from the West Midlands have been given a boost of making the squad for the 2016 Games in Rio de Janeiro after being selected for British Swimming's first overseas squad of the year.

Brittany Horton, from Brierley Hill, will be joined in the 34-strong team by Rowley Regis's Chloe Finch and Sutton Coldfield's Luke Davies for the Flanders Cup event in Antwerp from January 23-24.

Backstroke specialist Horton and freestyle swimmer Finch are both 17, while Davies - who competes in breaststroke - is 19.

British swimming legend Liam Tancock is among those also competing in Belgium.

Clegg setting himself an Elite target

CRADLEY teenager Max Clegg is targeting double-figure points every meeting - and that's just in the Elite League!

The 18-year-old will form a powerful spearhead with the National League Heathens alongside Ashley Morris.

The busy Yorkshireman will also ride in the Premier League for Edinburgh while holding down a reserve berth in the top flight with Wolves.

"I've achieved all the targets I've set myself. But I've got some more for this year."

"I definitely want to get double figures home and away this year. That's my Elite League target."

"I don't really have any targets for National League."

"And I don't really put myself under any pressure. What happens, happens. I enjoy my racing."

Hales hang on as time against DK

DK 2nds 0 Old Halesonians 2nds 10
WITH the first team game cancelled, all eyes were on the seconds against rivals DK.

Within the first two minutes, Old Hales were on the attack and, after DK were penalised from a scramble to turn the ball over, Old Hales second row Louis Madican reacted quickly, took the tap penalty and forced his way over the try line to score.

Old Hales had the edge in the set pieces and their forwards made some strong runs during the first half, particularly Kieron Haynes, Jay Martin and Mike Topping but the DK defence held firm. There were no further scores in the first half, so it finished 5-0 to Old Hales.

Old Hales backs started the second half with some excellent interplay. From a scrum deep in the Old Hales half the ball was moved to the left.

Luke Fenton made a well timed pass to Andy Holloway who made his way into the DK half before making a lovely offload to fullback Alex Herbert, joining the line at speed.

On the DK 22 metre line Herbert passed to left wing Jake Shellis who outpaced the DK defence to score. The conversion was unsuccessful so the score was 10-0 to Old Hales.

The remaining 30 minutes of the second half was a hard fought battle with both teams testing each other's defence. Towards the end, DK attacked the Old Hales line but time ran out for them.

Ledbury 2nds 3 Old Hales 3rds 39
OLD Hales first game of 2016 resulted in a fine league victory over Ledbury 2nds. Old Hales scorers were: Tries: George Eccles (2), Alex Church, Pete Cox, Calum Roberts, Harry Higgs; Conversions: Andy Tromans, Gaz Price (2); Penalties: Andy Tromans

Teams frustrated as matches are hit by the weather

OLD Halesonians Hockey Club were thwarted by the weather, with all but the Men's 2nd XI and Badgers sides having games called off due to frozen pitches.

The Men's 1st XI were about set to travel to Barton when the call came to say their game was off, meaning they were unable to build on the previous week's victory against Bridgnorth.

Hales were missing Cole Hickman through suspension, but goals from Paul Woodall and Doug Houghton sealed a 2-1 win for the side with the league's best defensive record.

That win saw the side rise to equal second, with Barton one of the other two sides level on points. Hales face the other side equal in second, Loughborough Town, on Saturday at King Edward Five Ways School, pushback 1.30pm.

The postponement meant the 2nd XI had a partisan home crowd behind them as they were held to a 3-3 draw by Aldridge & Walsall. Goals came from Mark Rigby, Adam Hill and Joe Thorn. The Badgers beat Finchfield, 3-2 with goals from Jakob Baker, Lewis Jepson and Joe Shackleton.

Happy returns for birthday boy Matt

Matt Dodd, centre, celebrates the winning goal

Braintree Town 0 Stourbridge 1

STOURBRIDGE are through to the last 16 of the FA Trophy after knocking out their Vanarama National League opponents.

Gary Hackett's men now travel to either National League North side Bradford Park Avenue or Northern Premier League rivals Nantwich Town on February 6 for a place in the last eight.

Continued issues with the pitch at Braintree's Cressing Road ground meant Saturday's game was the first held there for several weeks. Matt Dodd - on his 29th birthday - got the all-important goal, scoring from close range early in the second half. Stourbridge are into the last 16 of non-league football's premier Cup competition for the first time since 1972/73, and are now one win away from equalling their best ever performance of a quarter-final place in 1970/71.

The winning goal came on 56 minutes when Karl Hawley put a low cross in, the ball came off Lait and Matt Dodd directed the ball into the net off the crossbar.

Delighted Hackett said: "I am proud of all the players. It was a great result."

WINNING RUN IS EXTENDED

DK 37 Whitchurch 12

DK extended their winning run to five games against a Whitchurch side that had won the corresponding game earlier in the season.

From the kick off DK immediately pinned Whitchurch in their half, exerting some early pressure, which was soon to yield a penalty, kicked into the corner by Tommy Huggins. From the ensuing lineup DK were able to set up a drive which saw Ed Parry touch down, following a driving maul. Duncan Tomkins added the extras to increase the DK lead to 7-0.

A penalty from Tomkins' boot stretched the lead further to 10-0.

Whitchurch came back into the game and reduced the lead to 10-5 following a try from a scrum following a back row move which saw scrum half Joe Mullock score. But Tomkins added a further penalty to steady the ship.

It was 18-5 when Danny Hawkins picked up at the base and drove in for a try. Moments later he was off the pitch following a yellow card for a high tackle, and Whitchurch took advantage as blindside wing Dan Mee scored a good try off an inside pass.

DK came out after half time and increased the tempo of the game and were soon on the attack, at this point James Fildes replaced Lewis Hannibal who had had another significant game in the back row.

DK were increasing their hold on the game, and the backs attacked down their right wing following a fine passing movement which stretched the Whitchurch defence. Hooker Luke Greenwood slipped the ball back inside to the supporting Steff Shillingford who scored a try, Tomkins added the conversion.

Shillingford added to the scoreline again with the extras coming from the boot of Tomkins.

By now the Shakespeare brothers had come on, and they almost combined for a try as Ollie found himself charging for the line but was tackled just short, with his brother Dan in support.

The scoring was finished by a good team try which showed what the DK are all about - ball retention and probing for the gap in the defence and a forward in the shape of Luke Greenwood on the wing to touch down.

Pressure increased on leaders

Centre James Otutaha forces his way over for Stour's third try

Stourbridge 23 Harrogate 10

STOURBRIDGE'S win over Harrogate in National 2 North was their seventh in the last eight games, increasing the pressure on leaders Macclesfield and Sedgley Park whose games were lost to the weather last weekend.

On a soft Stourton Park surface Stour struck first with two penalties by outside-half Rod Petty, veteran scrum half Toby Handley then breezing through a huge gap in the defences to score the opening try.

Harrogate full-back Lewis Minkin struck back with a penalty but with Stour's dominant pack camped in their 22 Harrogate first lost flanker Tom Harvey for cynically pulling down a maul, then shipped a try to Stour winger Josh Trinham when the hosts moved the ball wide.

A Stour bonus point victory looked a formality when a direct run at the defence by centre James Otutaha produced another score straight after the break, but Stour were left to rue a sin-binning for a dangerous tackle by replacement Connor Nicholls and numerous missed opportunities as they failed to score a fourth try.

With nothing to lose Harrogate started to throw the ball around and bagged a well-worked consolation try by winger Luke Edwards, final score 23-10.

Blue hoops still lead the way at top

BEN Foster may have been bested by Tim Dalton of Severn AC in the Birmingham & District Cross Country League on Saturday but the blue hoops still extended their lead at the top of the table.

The weekend's fixture was over a testing six miles of muddy twists and turns in Droitwich. Twenty DK Runners arrived on the start line, to try to consolidate their lead at the top of Division 3.

Although Foster was unable to add to a previous win at the venue from his last visit he was still a comfortable second, finishing in 37.55 with Rob Meredith in fifth, Matt Biggs in 11th, James Wright 12th, Simon Hughes 29th and Richard Bate 30th to bring home the A team.

The B team were well placed with Rob Sannwald finishing in 33rd in 42.45. Dave Norman was 35th, Stuart Perkins 40th, Daren Thompson 45th, Simon Blizzard 54th and Darran Bishop 57th.

With DK winning the fixture on the day by 40 points they remain top of the division with what appears to be a comfortable lead from Northbrook AC and Sparkhill Harriers. The B team are also top of the B team league.

The women travelled to Gloucester where Tracy Alderson was first home in 77th in 26.49. Helen Tromans finished a single second and one place behind.

Less than 24 hours later there was another opportunity to run round a muddy field in the Midlands Masters Cross Country Championships in Wolverhampton. Open only to over-35s, this attracts a small but competitive field with five athletes from DK lining up on their second start line of the weekend.

It was worth the effort as James Wright claimed an age group bronze over the 8k course. There was also a team silver from Matt Biggs, Dave Norman, Simon Hughes and Darran Bishop.

New fixture dates to tackle backlog

THE Northern Premier League have re-arranged several of Stourbridge's outstanding league games that have been lost due to their cup runs.

Gary Hackett's side face a fixture backlog because of runs to the FA Cup second round and the last 16 of the FA Trophy.

They will now host Marine FC on Monday, February 1 at 7.45pm, then, subject to an FA Trophy replay, they will travel to Grantham Town on Tuesday, February 9.

The Glassboys will also host Ashton United on Monday, March 7 and travel to Workington on Saturday, March 19.
